ALa/AASL Standards for Initial Preparation of School Librarians (2010)

Approved by Specialty Areas Studies Board (SASB) of the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE), October 24, 2010

The ALA/AASL Standards for Initial Preparation of School Librarians apply to all master’s programs that prepare candidates to develop and manage library and information services in a PreK-12 setting, regardless of degree name or professional title. “School librarian” is the official professional title adopted by the American Association of School Librarians (AASL) and the American Library Association. Other titles include, but are not limited to, “school library media specialist,” “teacher librarian,” “library information specialist,” and “media coordinator.”

Standard 1: Teaching for Learning

Candidates are effective teachers who demonstrate knowledge of learners and learning and who model and promote collaborative planning, instruction in multiple literacies, and inquiry-based learning, enabling members of the learning community to become effective users and creators of ideas and information. Candidates design and implement instruction that engages students' interests and develops their ability to inquire, think critically, gain and share knowledge.

Elements

1.1 Knowledge of learners and learning
Candidates are knowledgeable of learning styles, stages of human growth and development, and cultural influences on learning. Candidates assess learner needs and design instruction that reflects educational best practice. Candidates support the learning of all students and other members of the learning community, including those with diverse learning styles, physical and intellectual abilities and needs. Candidates base twenty-first century skills instruction on student interests and learning needs and link it to the assessment of student achievement.

1.2 Effective and knowledgeable teacher
Candidates implement the principles of effective teaching and learning that contribute to an active, inquiry-based approach to learning. Candidates make use of a variety of instructional strategies and assessment tools to design and develop digital-age learning experiences and assessments in partnership with classroom teachers and other educators. Candidates can document and communicate the impact of collaborative instruction on student achievement.

1.3 Instructional partner
Candidates model, share, and promote effective principles of teaching and learning as collaborative partners with other educators. Candidates acknowledge the importance of participating in curriculum development, of engaging in school improvement processes, and of offering professional development to other educators as it relates to library and information use.

1.4 Integration of twenty-first century skills and learning standards
Candidates advocate for twenty-first century literacy skills to support the learning needs of the school community. Candidates demonstrate how to collaborate with other teachers to plan and implement instruction of the AASL Standards for the 21st-Century Learner and state student curriculum standards. Candidates employ strategies to integrate multiple literacies with content curriculum. Candidates integrate the use of emerging technologies as a means for effective and creative teaching and to support P-12 students' conceptual understanding, critical thinking and creative processes.
Standard 1 Rubric

Unacceptable
Assessments provide little or no evidence that candidates are able to:

- Demonstrate an understanding of learners and learning or of instructional strategies and resources that support the AASL Standards for the 21st-Century Learner;
- Collaborate with other professionals in support of curriculum and/or professional development.

Acceptable
At least one assessment provides evidence that candidates are able to:

- Demonstrate a knowledge of learners and learning by collaborating with other educators to design instruction that supports the learning styles, needs, interests and abilities of all students;
- Deliver instruction and develop assessments that make use of a variety of instructional strategies and information resources to develop and enhance the multiple literacies of P-12 students;
- Gain an awareness of and participate in professional learning activities related to library and information use to ensure all members of the learning community become effective users of ideas and information;
- Integrate emerging technologies into instruction that reinforce the skills, dispositions, responsibilities, and self assessments in AASL Standards for the 21st-Century Learner and state standards that support student achievement.

Target
Multiple assessments provide evidence that candidates are able to:

- Model and promote a knowledge of learners and learning by designing and delivering inquiry-based information literacy instruction that enhances the information, media, visual and technical literacies of P-12 students;
- Integrate emerging technologies into a variety of instructional strategies to support the diverse learning styles, interests, and ability of all students to inquire, think critically, and gain and create knowledge;
- Collaborate with educators and other stakeholders in professional development activities involving curriculum development and school improvement processes in support of student achievement.
Standard 2: Literacy and Reading

Candidates promote reading for learning, personal growth, and enjoyment. Candidates are aware of major trends in children's and young adult literature and select reading materials in multiple formats to support reading for information, reading for pleasure, and reading for lifelong learning. Candidates use a variety of strategies to reinforce classroom reading instruction to address the diverse needs and interests of all readers.

Elements

2.1 Literature
Candidates are familiar with a wide range of children’s, young adult, and professional literature in multiple formats and languages to support reading for information, reading for pleasure, and reading for lifelong learning.

2.2 Reading promotion
Candidates use a variety of strategies to promote leisure reading and model personal enjoyment of reading in order to promote habits of creative expression and lifelong reading.

2.3 Respect for diversity
Candidates demonstrate the ability to develop a collection of reading and information materials in print and digital formats that support the diverse developmental, cultural, social, and linguistic needs of P-12 students and their communities.

2.4 Literacy strategies
Candidates collaborate with classroom teachers to reinforce a wide variety of reading instructional strategies to ensure P-12 students are able to create meaning from text.
Standard 2 Rubric

Unacceptable
Assessments provide little or no evidence that candidates are able to:

- Promote or support reading through the use of literature;
- Direct reading instruction or collection development that meets the needs of all readers.

Acceptable
At least one assessment provides evidence that candidates are able to:

- Promote reading through a wide range of reading materials in multiple formats for both children and young adults that encourage reading for information, pleasure and life-long learning;
- Collaborate with other educators to reinforce classroom reading instruction through the use of a variety of reading strategies that enhance P-12 students' ability to create meaning from text;
- Develop a collection of reading resources that promotes reading for enjoyment and meets the diverse information needs and interests of all readers.

Target
Multiple assessments provide evidence that candidates are able to:

- Promote reading for children, young adults and other education professionals through the use of high-quality and high-interest literature in print and digital formats that reflect the diverse developmental, cultural, social and linguistic needs of their P-12 students and communities;
- Use authentic and engaging instructional strategies that reinforce classroom reading instruction in support of lifelong learning and to build an appreciation for literature in support of personal and creative pursuits of P-12 students and other members of the school community.
Standard 3: Information and Knowledge

Candidates model and promote ethical, equitable access to and use of physical, digital, and virtual collections of resources. Candidates demonstrate knowledge of a variety of information sources and services that support the needs of the diverse learning community. Candidates demonstrate the use of a variety of research strategies to generate knowledge to improve practice.

Elements

3.1 Efficient and ethical information-seeking behavior
Candidates identify and provide support for diverse student information needs. Candidates model multiple strategies for students, other teachers, and administrators to locate, evaluate, and ethically use information for specific purposes. Candidates collaborate with students, other teachers, and administrators to efficiently access, interpret, and communicate information.

3.2 Access to information
Candidates support flexible, open access for library services. Candidates demonstrate their ability to develop solutions for addressing physical, social and intellectual barriers to equitable access to resources and services. Candidates facilitate access to information in print, non-print, and digital formats. Candidates model and communicate the legal and ethical codes of the profession.

3.3 Information technology
Candidates demonstrate their ability to design and adapt relevant learning experiences that engage students in authentic learning through the use of digital tools and resources. Candidates model and facilitate the effective use of current and emerging digital tools to locate, analyze, evaluate, and use information resources to support research, learning, creating, and communicating in a digital society.

3.4 Research and knowledge creation
Candidates use evidence-based, action research to collect data. Candidates interpret and use data to create and share new knowledge to improve practice in school libraries.
Standard 3 Rubric

Unacceptable
Assessments provide little or no evidence that candidates are able to:

- Design services or instruction that supports equitable access to information in an efficient and ethical manner by P-12 students and other members of their school and community.

Acceptable
At least one assessment provides evidence that candidates are able to:

- Implement flexible and equitable access to print and digital information resources by diverse members of the school community by reducing barriers to resources and services;
- Collaborate with other educators to design and deliver instruction that enhances P-12 students' ability to ethically and efficiently access, evaluate and use information;
- Integrate current and emerging technologies into instruction in support of inquiry, learning, creating and communicating information in a digital society;
- Use evidence-based practice methods to collect, interpret and use data from research to improve practice in school libraries.

Target
Multiple assessments provide evidence that candidates are able to:

- Ensure open and equitable access to information by collaborating with all members of the school community to develop solutions to physical, social and intellectual barriers to resources and services in school libraries;
- Model and promote efficient and ethical information seeking behaviors through the design and delivery of authentic and relevant learning experiences for P-12 students, teachers and administrators in professional learning communities;
- Enhance access to information for P-12 students and other members of their schools and communities through the use of current and emerging technologies that support the access, interpretation and communication of information;
- Use a variety of research strategies to create new knowledge and improve practice in school libraries.
Standard 4: Advocacy and Leadership

Candidates advocate for dynamic school library programs and positive learning environments that focus on student learning and achievement by collaborating and connecting with teachers, administrators, librarians, and the community. Candidates are committed to continuous learning and professional growth and lead professional development activities for other educators. Candidates provide leadership by articulating ways in which school libraries contribute to student achievement.

Elements

4.1 Networking with the library community
Candidates demonstrate the ability to establish connections with other libraries and to strengthen cooperation among library colleagues for resource sharing, networking, and facilitating access to information. Candidates participate and collaborate as members of a social and intellectual network of learners.

4.2 Professional development
Candidates model a strong commitment to the profession by participating in professional growth and leadership opportunities through membership in library associations, attendance at professional conferences, reading professional publications, and exploring Internet resources. Candidates plan for ongoing professional growth.

4.3 Leadership
Candidates are able to articulate the role and relationship of the school library program's impact on student academic achievement within the context of current educational initiatives. Utilizing evidence-based practice and information from education and library research, candidates communicate ways in which the library program can enhance school improvement efforts.

4.4 Advocacy
Candidates identify stakeholders within and outside the school community who impact the school library program. Candidates develop a plan to advocate for school library and information programs, resources, and services.
