OPENLY.

How to self-assess their work. Books that are professionally

Adapting to new situations.

How to search

LEARNING TO BE A Battle of GOOD DIGITAL CITIZEN. the books.

and prizes. A quiet place to learn.

Having resources available for school projects at the public library because the school efficiently and effectively. librarian collaborated with them. THEIR LEARNING STYLE.

Reading contests Cloud computing. The opportunity to borrow

Resources that align with the curriculum.

laptops.

digital cameras,

recorders, and

THINGS If they don't have a SCHOOL LIBRARIAN KIDS WILL MISS in their school

Assistance and guidance in completing homework assignments.

Help with history fair, science fair projects.

Acquiring 21st century skills.

Instruction in how to use statewide databases.

A CONNECTION BETWEEN THE OUTSIDE

WORLD AND THE CLASSROOM.

QUITABLE

information.

increase efficiency in the entire building.

tools (i.e., blogs, wikis, Facebook, Twitter, etc.) safely and responsibly.

The potential for higher standardized test scores.

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY.

Preparation for college.

Responding to literature.

confidenc Technology expertise and instruction on software and web applications for writing, collaboration and presentation.

EXPLORE NEW IDEAS. A place to practice decision-making skills.

Organizing

knowledge.

personal

support, enrich.

A program th differentiates

to Teachers who extend learning experiences beyond the classroom.

CELEBRATING LEARNING. The ability to experiment with and master new technology.

Helping other students. Confidentiality.

skill, not just an academic necessity.

Synthesizing information from Special programs and speakers. diverse perspectives.

A place to display their work both physically and virtually. How to evaluate

Having How to create information. stories read to auditional resources for their classrooms.

Citing

ing the them. Time during homeroom, during lunch, during the school day, and after school to work on projects when they have no other access to computers.

A conduit for information to Using social media websites and Book fairs. materials on interlibrary loan from public and college libraries.

In-depth exploration Creating READ® posters.

Teachers who have had exposure to instructional support for coming through the door and collaboration.

READING

Book club

The library, like the cafeteria and the gym, are places where all students (crossing grade levels and ability levels) mingle with one another.

Resources that will broaden their global perspective.

librarian collaboration. A library website that offers access 24–7 to an online catalog, selected electronic resources, databases, and curriculum-related websites.

enhanced through teacher/

Creating book trailers. WITHOUT GRADES.

Accepting learning as a life Learning experiences that are Citing sources A place where correctly. the digital divide doesn't exist. Writing a thesis statement or a critical question.

A place to practice safe and ethical behaviors.

where

The ability and defend to construct arguments.

to Recommending books to their friends.

Learning the implications of a digital footprint.

Author visits.

Reflecting on

A PLACE

TO SOLVE

PROBLEMS.

Using information A recommendation for a Developing teamwork. ethically. book that is suited to their interest. A PLACE TO VISIT THAT IS OPEN, FRIENDLY, ATTRACTIVE, ONE-ON-ONE INSTRUCTION. Summer reading lists and programs.

"SHOP" FOR FREE.

databases, including time-saving instruction on which databases are the information-Video chats with appropriate for particular projects. seeking process. authors and experts.

> Encouragement. of a topic. Someone to > > genuine pleas

talk to and someone who listensthe school librarian.

Access to subscription

Project-based learning and the critical thinking skills it teaches them.

get

5/29/2013 10:58:55 AM

How to share information with others.

Opportunities for meaningful student leadership.

Developing personal productivity.

GOING BEYOND

A librarian who doesn't judge a student because he/she takes out a book they enjoy reading.

OLAtop100_poster.indd

