In accordance with Policy 5.6, the Committee has reviewed all Council Actions taken in June 1992 for possible incorporation, additions to, or changes in the ALA Policy Manual.

FOR ACTION

Item #1 ALA Policy 10.1 American Libraries: Add new first sentence: "The ALA is the publisher of the magazine, American Libraries."

This is to accomplish the intent of 1992-93 CD#18.3, Attachment #4.

Item #2 ALA Policy 54.18 Advertising Salary Ranges: Change the first sentence to read: "Available salary ranges..."

Change first sentence of second paragraph to read: "All ALA and unit publications printing classified job advertisements shall list the salary ranges for open positions where available..."

This wording was approved when Council adopted 1992-93 CD#18.4, Attachment #2.

Item #3 ALA Policy 12 Organization Membership Dues: Change category designation from "Special Members" to "Corporate Members."

This change was approved when Council adopted 1992-93 CD#14.2.

Item #4 ALA Policy 7.1.1 Non-Discrimination in Conference Facilities. Change title to "Non-Discrimination in Conference Contracts."

Add new second paragraph: "The American Library Association will enter into conference-site contracts only with organizations and legal bodies in cities, counties, or states that do not by law discriminate against lesbian, gay, and bisexual people."

These two changes will implement Council’s intent when it adopted CD#40 at the 1993 Midwinter Meeting. (This was not brought to Council at the 1993 Annual Conference because of an oversight.)
WHEREAS, on news magazines such as American Libraries the editorial and publishing responsibilities are separate and distinct, though interrelated;

AND WHEREAS, editorial independence is granted in ALA Policy 10.1;

AND WHEREAS, accountability for editorial responsibilities is explicit in the masthead of the publication, but publishing responsibility is merely inferred by the masthead statement, "published...by ALA," and is not indicated in ALA Policy;

AND WHEREAS, publishing management responsibilities—which at ALA include employment and evaluation of chief editors; integration of editorial, advertising, and general association goals; and oversight of financial performance—are critical to the welfare of the publication and the Association;

AND WHEREAS, the ALA staff officer who chiefly manages the publishing functions for the Association is the Associate Executive Director for Publishing;

AND WHEREAS, the location of overall responsibilities should be clearly placed with an individual staff officer and made explicit to the membership;

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the American Library Association be designated as the publisher of American Libraries;

AND, THEREFORE, BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that publisher responsibilities be exercised by the Associate Executive Director for Publishing.
Inasmuch as AMERICAN LIBRARIES is the official organ of the American Library Association, the Editor has a particular responsibility to convey to the membership and other readers full and accurate information about the activities, purposes, and goals of the Association. In order to carry out this responsibility the Editor may have access to privileged information. He must assume an obligation to represent the best interests of the Association and all of its units fairly and as fully as is possible within the scope of the journal, with due regard to the Editor’s prerogatives in producing a balanced and readable publication.

ALA encourages publication in the news columns of AMERICAN LIBRARIES of news about all matters of import to libraries and librarians. The Editor will be guaranteed independence in gathering, reporting and publishing news according to the principles embodied in the American Library Association’s policies on Intellectual freedom.

Statements of official ALA positions on any matters will be clearly identified as such when they are published in AMERICAN LIBRARIES. The Editor must be free to analyze and interpret such matters conscientiously, as his own judgment dictates, in fulfillment of his broad responsibility to the Association. Such analysis and interpretation should appear over the signature of the Editor.

News and views should both have their place in AMERICAN LIBRARIES, and every opportunity must be assured for expression of diverse views when members believe such views run counter to their own. or when news is considered to be inaccurately or not fully reported. Signed interpretive comment should also be encouraged in its editorial columns. The AMERICAN LIBRARIES' columns must be kept scrupulously and faithfully open to expression of all viewpoints of interest and concern to the library profession.
AMERICAN LIBRARY ASSOCIATION

Item: PUBLICATIONS  Item Number: 215.5.3
Approved by: ALA Executive Board  Page: 1 of 1
Issue Date: October 1971  Supersedes:

AMERICAN LIBRARIES - editorial policy

Inasmuch as AMERICAN LIBRARIES is the official organ of the American Library Association, the Editor has a particular responsibility to convey to the membership and other readers full and accurate information about the activities, purposes, and goals of the Association. In order to carry out this responsibility the Editor may have access to privileged information. He must assume an obligation to represent the best interests of the Association and all of its units fairly and as fully as is possible within the scope of the journal, with due regard to the Editor's prerogatives in producing a balanced and readable publication.

The ALA Publishing Board encourages publication in the news columns of AMERICAN LIBRARIES of news about all matters of import to libraries and librarians, and it also encourages signed interpretive comment in its editorial columns.

Statements of official ALA positions on any matters will be clearly identified as such when they are published in AMERICAN LIBRARIES. The Editor must be free to analyze and interpret such matters conscientiously, as his own judgment dictates, in fulfillment of his broad responsibility to the Association. Such analysis and interpretation should appear over the signature of the Editor.

News and views should both have their place in AMERICAN LIBRARIES, and every opportunity must be assured for expression of diverse views when members believe such views run counter to their own, or when news is considered to be inaccurately or not fully reported. The AMERICAN LIBRARIES' columns must be kept scrupulously and faithfully open to expression of all viewpoints of interest and concern to the library profession.

ALA encourages publication in the news columns of AMERICAN LIBRARIES of news about all matters of import to libraries and librarians. The Editor will be guaranteed independence in gathering, reporting and publishing news according to the principles embodied in the American Library Association's policies on Intellectual Freedom.