

GOT A MINUTE?

options for engagement with ACRL

MINUTES

- 3 minutes every other week: Read the ACRL Update
- 5 minutes a day: Read and comment on the ACRLog (<http://acrl.org>), ACRL Insider (<http://www.acrl.ala.org/acrlinsider>), and ACRL Facebook (www.facebook.com/ala.acrl).
- 5 minutes a year: Follow ACRL on Facebook and Twitter
- 5 minutes a year: Update your ALA contact information
- 5 minutes a year: Contribute to Friends of ACRL (online or by mail)
- 10 minutes a term: Read your section newsletter(s)
- 15 minutes a day: Seek advice on one or more of ACRL's 25 discussion lists
- 20 minutes a year: Vote for ACRL candidates (only 25% of members voted in last election)
- 20 minutes a year: submit a profile to be featured as the ACRL Member of the Week (contact Mary Jane Petrowski at mpetrowski@ala.org for details)

HOURS

- 1 hour a week: Attend an ACRL webcast or e-seminar
- 1 hour a month: Become an ACRL Spectrum Scholar Mentor
- 1 hour a term: Volunteer at the ACRL Booth at the ALA Midwinter Meeting or Annual Conference
- 1 hour a year: Nominate a colleague for an ACRL award
- 1-2 hours a term: Submit a proposal for ACRL 2015 in Portland or the next ALA Annual Conference
- 1-2 hours a term: Submit a book proposal to ACRL
- 8-10 hours a term: Write an article for C&RL News
- A few hours a month: Develop and teach an online course for ACRL
- A few hours a month: Work on an article for C&RL
- A few hours a month: Serve as an ACRL Legislative Advocate

DAYS

- 2 days a term: Attend a workshop at the ALA Midwinter Meeting or Annual Conference
- 3-5 days a term: Attend ACRL committee meetings at the ALA Midwinter Meeting and Annual Conference
- 3-5 days a term: Translate an ACRL standard or guideline into another language

WEEKS

- A week: Offer a poster session at ALA Annual Conference.
- A week: Attend an ACRL institute (Harvard Leadership, Scholarly Communication, Immersion), preconference, or workshop

MONTHS

- One month: Serve on a committee (includes project work and attending meetings virtually or face-to-face at the ALA Midwinter Meeting and Annual Conference)
- A sabbatical: Write a book for ACRL

PENCIL IT IN!

options for engagement with ACRL

EVERY DAY

- Read and comment on the ACRLlog (<http://www.acrlog.org>), ACRL Insider (<http://www.acrl.ala.org/acrlinsider>), and ACRL Facebook (www.facebook.com/ala.acrl)

EVERY WEEK

- Seek advice, experience, and wisdom from colleagues on one or more of ACRL's 25 discussion lists
- Share an ACRL Facebook post

EVERY OTHER WEEK

- Read the ACRL Update (subscribe <http://www.ala.org/acrl/aboutacrl/listserv>)

EVERY MONTH

- Mentor the next generation as an ACRL Spectrum Scholar Mentor

EVERY TERM

- Develop yourself: Attend an ACRL webcast or e-seminar
- Read your section newsletter(s)
- Volunteer at the ACRL Booth at the ALA Midwinter and Annual Conference
- Attend a workshop ALA Midwinter Meeting or Annual Conference
- Attend ACRL committee meetings at the ALA Midwinter Meeting and Annual Conference

EVERY YEAR

- Develop and teach an online course for ACRL
- Keep current: Update your ALA contact information
- Make a difference by contributing to Friends of ACRL (online or by mail)
- Nominate a colleague for an ACRL award
- Vote in the ALA/ACRL election. Only 25% of members voted in last election

WHILE THE TENURE CLOCK IS TICKING...

- Write an article for C&RL News or C&RL
- Translate an ACRL standard or guideline into another language
- Submit a book proposal to ACRL
- Attend an ACRL institute (Harvard Leadership, Scholarly Communication, Immersion), ACRL Conference, preconference, or workshop
- Serve on a committee (and work virtually)
- Serve as an ACRL Legislative Advocate
- Influence the profession: submit a proposal for the upcoming ACRL Conference or ALA Annual Conference