I. Introduction to the Section

Thousands of librarians from a wide variety of university libraries make up the University Libraries Section (ULS) of the Association of College and Research Libraries (ACRL), a division of the American Library Association (ALA). Since its establishment in 1937, ULS has been actively involved in shaping the future of our library and university environments. ULS advances university librarianship, university library service, and the development of university libraries in post-baccalaureate degree-granting institutions. In addition, ULS fosters communication and cooperation with higher education institutions, university administrators and faculty on issues of mutual concern.

II. Relationship to the ACRL Board of Directors

The ACRL Board of Directors shall be authorized to create Communities of Practice (including the Sections), to monitor their activities, and to determine their continuance in consultation with the respective groups. The Board shall also be authorized to formulate policies to govern the activities of the sections.

The Board liaison role provides a critical connection between the University Libraries Section and the ACRL Board of Directors. This liaison role can be particularly helpful in providing perspective, guidance, and insight on ACRL policies, procedures, and initiatives; soliciting feedback from the University Libraries Section on proposed Board actions; and providing advice on Action Plan Proposals and Board Action Forms that the University Libraries Section’s leaders will need to submit for official ACRL Board and ACRL Executive Committee action/decisions.
The ACRL Board of Directors is the voice for the Association. The University Libraries Section is not authorized to speak for the Association except via the ACRL Board of Directors. ULS leaders need to refrain from issuing statements, taking positions, or endorsing any statements or positions except with the Board’s approval.

III. ULS Vision & Goals

A. Vision

ULS will strengthen the ability of university libraries to provide superior services, and will prepare university library personnel for increasingly significant roles in higher education. ULS will develop guidelines and standards for university libraries and promote continuous learning for library staff. ULS will provide leadership in shaping information and scholarly communication policy through ACRL and ALA, and in partnership with other higher education and information technology groups. ULS will foster the recruitment and retention of highly qualified and talented people by university libraries, individuals who reflect the diversity found in American society.

B. Goals

1. Provide excellent programming for constituents at both the national and regional level.

   Strategic directions:

   1.1 Sponsor programs at conferences and other forums.

   1.2 Extend programming and continuing education opportunities to the local and regional level. ULS will also:

      • Provide information on successful programs for possible implementation at the local and regional level.

      • Encourage the use of teleconferencing and other new technologies to disseminate programs widely.

   1.3 Provide support for creative and effective program planning.

   1.4 Devise methods to assess the evolving needs of the membership for continuing education.

2. Seek cooperative relationships within ACRL and ALA, and with other library organizations.

   Strategic directions:

   2.1 Work with other ACRL sections to develop joint programs of interest to university library personnel.

   2.2 Work with other ALA divisions to develop joint programs.
2.3 Encourage the establishment of liaisons from ACRL to other library organizations to promote increased collaboration.

2.4 Increase involvement in the ACRL Activities Section Council.

3. Promote participation in the development of information policy at the national level.

   Strategic Directions:

   3.1 Keep ACRL informed of issues related to information policy that are of particular concern to university libraries, so that they receive prompt attention at the national level.

   3.2 Seek means to communicate with ULS membership to encourage more involvement with legislative and other leaders.

   3.3 Explore the use of appropriate electronic means of delivering information on policy issues to ULS membership.

4. Foster cooperation with university administration and teaching faculty on issues of mutual concern.

   Strategic Directions:

   4.1 Identify issues of mutual concern.

   4.2 Provide ULS members with opportunities to begin or contribute to dialogues with university administrators and faculty on these issues.

   4.3 Increase interaction with national scholarly associations on these issues through collaborative programs, joint publication, and other means.

   4.4 Promote efforts to ensure recruitment and retention of a diverse workforce within universities and their libraries.

5. Promote awareness and provide support for university libraries in dealing with the challenges that are unique to them.

   Strategic Directions:

   5.1 Identify the major challenges facing university libraries, such as support of graduate and professional programs and research collections in an era of rising costs and evolving technologies.

   5.2 Consider the establishment of task forces to address these issues and report their findings to the Executive Board.

   5.3 Assist library schools in developing academic programs to prepare librarians to meet and anticipate the needs of university libraries and their patrons.

Unless otherwise approved by the Executive Committee, members of standing committees shall be appointed for terms of two years and may be re-appointed for a second term. In no case shall a person serve on a committee for more than four consecutive years. Appointments shall be made in such a manner as to provide continuity in membership and allow for broad representation from the membership. Sec. 3. Special or Ad Hoc Committees. Special or ad hoc committees may be established at any time by the Chair, with the approval of the Executive Committee, for the performance of a particular assignment. No such committee may be continued beyond three years without review and reapproval by the Executive Committee.

He/She will name the chair of each committee. Special appointments to fill vacancies on committees may be made by the chair on the advice of the committee chair. Members may be reappointed for a maximum total of two consecutive terms or four consecutive years of service. The maximum of four years also applies to any time spent in chairing a section committee. Reappointment of committee members and chairs is permissible but not mandatory. Committee chairs are normally appointed for one-year terms. The term of office begins immediately following the Annual Conference and concludes at the close of the Annual Conference one or two years later. Appointments to ad hoc committees generally are for the life of the committee.

ALA Policy 4.5.3 states that committee members are expected to attend all meetings. Failure to attend two consecutive meetings or groups of meetings (defined as all meetings of a committee that take place at one Midwinter or Annual Conference) without an explanation acceptable to the committee chair constitutes grounds for removal upon request by the committee chair and approval of the ULS Executive Committee.

A. Committee Functions & Responsibilities

Notes: ACRL sections may appoint liaisons to other groups of related interest. ACRL units do not require Board or ACRL Liaison Coordinating Committee (LCC) approval to establish liaison relationships, but the ACRL members serving as liaisons should be reported to the LCC chair for the purposes of being added to the ACRL Liaisons Assembly. Participation in the ACRL Liaisons Assembly will facilitate the sharing of liaison experiences and best practices, development of liaison skills and abilities, and the exploration of possible partnerships.

ACRL units whose members are active in a non-library organization are encouraged to designate one person as an official ACRL liaison to that organization. Such designation will ensure that others in ACRL will have the benefit of the outreach experience, position the unit to take advantage of training and outreach initiatives at the ACRL level, and make the unit’s designated liaison eligible for ACRL Liaison funding. The sponsoring units should employ a selection process that invites qualified applicants through established ACRL media and ensures all qualified candidates have an equal opportunity to apply.
