Public libraries are essential to communities

Most voters support federal funding

Voters frequently visit libraries in person and online

Majority of voters support local funding for libraries

Most voters are confused about library funding sources

From Awareness to Funding

Voter Perceptions and Support of Public Libraries in 2018

A new survey of US voters commissioned by OCLC, the American Library Association, and its Public Library Association division offers valuable insights on current voter perceptions as public libraries continue to strategize for the future. Read on for a selection of key survey findings.

Voters frequently visit libraries in person and online

70% of voters have visited a public library in the last year, an average of 8.6 visits

52% have visited the library’s website in the last year, an average of 7.6 visits

Majority of voters support local funding for libraries

58% would vote favorably for libraries at the ballot box

27% would definitely vote in favor

31% would probably vote in favor

Most voters are confused about library funding sources

59% of voters think most library funding comes from nonlocal sources (e.g., state, federal, donations, fines, and fees)

In reality, 86% of funding comes from local sources (OCLC, 2015)

Voters support other funding options

Most voters support federal funding

76% say the federal government should either... increase funding for public libraries

38% contributed

28% or keep it the same

61% have either... or are willing to contribute to fundraising efforts in support of their local libraries

Most voters are confused about library funding sources

61% of voters think most library funding comes from nonlocal sources (e.g., state, federal, donations, fines, and fees)

In reality, 86% of funding comes from local sources (OCLC, 2015)

Sources:

Data from a survey panel of 2,000 US voters ages 18 to 69 living in areas with populations of fewer than 300,000, administered by Leo Burnett USA between September 29 and October 4, 2017. This research and report is a project led by OCLC, the American Library Association, and its Public Library Association division.

The Institute of Museum and Library Services, 2015 library funding data

Visit oc.lc/awareness2018 to discover the variations in attitudes, perceptions, and behaviors among different segments of the voting public over the past ten years and how that drives their support for libraries today.

Read the full report to learn more!