General Information

The annual ALA Handbook of Organization (published in November) is the best source of information on ALA and its divisions. It is sent automatically to all ALA members. The ALA Membership Directory is available on line at <http://www.ala.org>; click on "Our Association," then scroll down to the bottom of the list of links on the left side of the page to access it.

ALA activities operate on the basis of three different calendars:

- 1) Membership in ALA is effective for one year, or twelve full months, starting when the membership application has been processed. Membership in ALA lapses and membership periodicals are discontinued when dues are still unpaid after three months past the renewal anniversary date.
- 2) Terms of office begin on the day following the completion of the annual conference (known as the conference year). This applies to elected and appointed officers and committee chairpersons and members of committees.

* ALSC exceptions:

Children and Libraries Editorial Advisory Committee, Newbery Awards Committee, Batchelder Awards Committee, Belpré Awards Committee, Caldecott Awards Committee, Geisel Awards Committee, Great Web Sites Committee, Nominating Committee, Notable Children's Books, Videos, Recordings, Computer Software Committees, Sibert Awards Committee, and Wilder Award Committee.

Headquarters Service

The office is maintained by ALSC and ALA to be of as much service as possible to the officers and members of the division. The ALSC Executive Director, who acts as Headquarters specialist and liaison in all matters falling within the responsibility of the division, is responsible to the ALA Executive Director. Divisional executive directors have the dual responsibilities of operating their own offices and serving as ALA staff members.

Stationery for official business will be supplied to the division officers and the committee chairpersons upon request. If funds are provided in the current divisional budget for the activity, duplicating may be requested.

ALA Headquarters is responsible for printing all ballots and biographical material and for mailing them to the membership. All returned division ballots are counted by the ALA Elections Committee at Headquarters. The ALSC Executive Director notifies the candidates of the election returns.

Schedules for meetings at the Annual Conference and Midwinter meeting are prepared by the ALA Conference Services Office with the cooperation of each executive director for divisional board and program meetings. The Conference Office maintains a current file of committee chairpersons and notifies them as to the procedures for scheduling committee meetings.

All publicity is handled through ALA's Public Information Office (PIO). Drafts of press releases should be sent to the ALSC Executive Director for transmittal to ALA/PIO.

Statement of Purpose

Children and Libraries (CAL) is the official journal of the Association for Library Service to Children (ALSC), a division of the American Library Association. The Journal primarily serves as a vehicle for continuing education of librarians working with children, which showcases current scholarly research and practice in library service to children. It also serves as a vehicle for communication to the ALSC membership, spotlighting significant news, activities, and initiatives of the Association.

Content

The text normally takes the form of original articles, bibliographic essays, speeches by award-winning authors, reviews of professional materials, and reports of division programs. The articles may be refereed or solicited by the editor. The division news section is the responsibility of ALSC staff.

CAL, in its responsibility as a vehicle for communication for the membership of ALSC, will contain divisional news, major articles, and other features. Divisional communication may take the form of reports to the membership prepared by the ALSC president and staff, summaries of the action taken by the divisional Board of Directors at the Annual Conference and Midwinter Meetings of the American Library Association, and reports of divisional membership meetings. Major articles may deal with any aspect of library resources and services to children in all types of libraries. Regular features may include editorials, letters to the editor, and guidelines for authors.

This includes preconference and program events held during the Annual Conferences and/or Midwinter Meetings of ALA as well as any other ALSC institutes, workshops, conferences, or division-sponsored program activities.

B. Vice-President/President Elect

1. Roles and Responsibilities

The Vice-President is a member of the Executive Board and Board of Directors and serves as the President in the President's absence.

Committee Appointment Responsibilities

In the fall, makes appointment of vice-chairs/chairs-elect to the following committees: Children & Technology, Intellectual Freedom, Legislation, Membership, Organization & Bylaws, Budget. These vice-chairs will shadow the current chairs at Midwinter Meeting and Annual Conference, and take office at the end of the Annual Conference.

In March, makes appointment of chairs, committee members and representatives to serve during his/her term as President. It is particularly important that the incoming chairpersons be appointed early enough to plan on attending Annual Conference; all new appointees are urged to attend Annual Conference.

ALA Committee Responsibilities

The Vice-President serves automatically on the ALA Committee on Appointments and as a member of the ALA Planning and Budget Assembly.

Since the planning of the Annual Conference taking place during his/her presidency begins with the first Midwinter Meeting after election, the Vice-President begins service on the ALA Annual Conference Program Committee for that conference at the beginning of the committee year (immediately after election as Vice-President).

ALSC Committee Responsibilities

The Vice-President serves as a member of the Executive Committee and the Budget Committee.

Program Development Responsibilities

Plans for the Annual Conference program during the year of presidency are developed during the year of vice-presidency in consultation with committee chairpersons, the ALSC Executive Director, and the Board of Directors.

Committee plans for the programs are due to the Vice-President at Midwinter one and one-half (1½) years before the Annual Conference for which they are proposed. If a President's Program is planned, a program director is selected, in consultation with the Executive Director, and plans for this program should be in the Vice-President's hands by spring, one year preceding the Annual Conference.

At the Annual Conference (at which the Vice-President assumes the presidency), the Vice-President presents program plans to the Board. Final plans and details are then completed in the late summer and early fall.

ALSC Board of Directors
Program and Budget Evaluation Criteria

The Board of Directors of each division of the American Library Association is responsible for the total division program. It is the Directors' responsibility to evaluate each activity proposed in terms of its value to the division and to ALA and, where appropriate, in terms of the budget request for support of the activity. The following questions are offered to the Board of Directors as convenient guidelines for the process of evaluation:

1. Is this activity worth doing at all?
2. Is this the time to do it?
3. It is urgent that it be done? Can it be done in time to be of use?
4. Can the work be accomplished in the period of time available?
5. Is the time schedule realistic in allowing for emergencies and setbacks, but designed to bring the project to a conclusion within reasonable limits?
6. Is the sub-unit, committee, discussion group, etc., sponsoring this activity in a position to undertake it? (Do the members have the talent, the time, and the resources?)
7. Is this the right unit to undertake the activity? Could the work be done better by a small or larger group, a group from one geographic area, by one person, by a person or agency outside of ALA?
8. Has this unit done sufficient background work to be able to launch this activity at this time?
9. Is this activity appropriate to the function of this unit and to the division?
10. Is the method selected the best one possible?
11. If the unit is asking for funds for a meeting:
 - a. Has it specified precisely what it expects to accomplish at this meeting?
 - b. Has it accomplished groundwork by mail, e-mail or by meetings at conferences?
 - c. Will its work proceed more quickly and efficiently by holding a meeting?
 - d. Must it hold this meeting in order to meet a deadline?
12. If the request is for publication:
 - a. What specific needs will this publication or production meet?
 - b. Will this publication or production be something behind which ALSC can stand?
 - c. Has the talent to produce this publication or production been identified?

* The Budget Committee should apply these questions on the Board's behalf in all matters under consideration.

- d. Have methods of insuring high standards been developed such as the establishment of an evaluation committee and/or provision for the employment of re-write and editing personnel?
 - e. If it is meant to sell, what analysis of the potential market has been made?
 - f. Are there resources available to cover the cost of publishing and marketing the publication?
 - g. In the case of a publication, is it necessary that it be published initially as a separate piece or can it be published in Children and Libraries with reprints for further distribution?
 - h. Is ALA Editions interested in the publication?
- 13. Is the project terminal or does it commit the division to long-term support?
 - 14. Is there already an investment in this project, and if there is, does it deserve to be built on or should the project be abandoned before more money is spent fruitlessly?

The following questions concerning the total proposed activities for the year are offered to the Board of Directors to assist them in considering every activity proposed in relation to the total division program:

- 1. Are we dealing with the most important matters in our field of responsibility or with those that happen to come to our attention?
- 2. Are these matters related to today's problems?
- 3. Are they in accord with the priorities and emphases set by the Executive Board and Council and the President of ALA?
- 4. Does the scope of these activities include all the segments of the division's membership? (Although it may not be possible to give attention to all of the professional interests of the division in one year, the total program of several years should be reviewed to make sure that no particular interest is being consistently omitted from attention).
- 5. How much staff time will the program actively require? How much membership time will it require? Is it realistic in respect to these factors? Can the total program afford the staff time required for the new activities? Can the Board and the membership give the necessary time and thought to the ongoing program and take on new activities? Should some of the current activities be dropped or tabled in favor of the new activities?

Committees of ALSC

General information and the function statements for division committees follow. This information may be supplemented by the annual committee roster.

Committees — General Information

A. Committee Year and Term of Office

1. The committee membership year shall be the same as the conference year. (ALA Bylaws, Article IX, Section 6.) That is, it begins the day following the Annual Conference.*
2. Members of Standing Committees shall be appointed by the President from the membership of the Division for the overlapping terms not to exceed two years, with the possibility of reappointment for only one more term immediately succeeding. The total shall not exceed four successive years.
3. Special Committees. Committee membership shall be the same as for Standing Committees, and appointments are made in the same way.
4. Consultants to committees are appointed by the President for a term of one year, with the possibility of reappointment at the discretion of the incoming President. (Policy established by Board action, January 1970.)
5. Interdivisional committees and other committees formed by two or more distinct units within the Association may be established as required by the groups concerned with notification to the Committee on Organization. (ALA Bylaws, Article IX, Section 4.)

B. General Directives for All Committees

1. The duties of individual committees are stated in their function statements, found also in the ALSC Handbook of Organization and in the ALA Handbook of Organization.
2. Standing, Special and Ad Hoc Committees may be authorized by the Board of Directors and may be discontinued by the Board.
3. Special Committees for which the Board of Directors has designated no termination date automatically expire at the end of three years (at the time of the adjournment of the Annual ALA Conference), unless otherwise ordered by the Board of Directors.
4. Committee management procedures are outlined in the ALSC Division Leadership Manual, given to each newly appointed committee chair.

* ALSC exceptions: Newbery Awards Committee, Caldecott Awards Committee, Children and Libraries Editorial Advisory Committee, Notable Children's Books Committee, Notable Children's Videos Committee, Notable Children's Recordings Committee, Notable Computer Software for Children Committee, Batchelder Awards Committee, Nominating Committee, Belpré Awards Committee, Sibert Awards Committee, Wilder Award Committee, Carnegie Award Committee, and Geisel Awards Committee

 Appointed while Vice-President/President-Elect

- New projects undertaken by the committee should be cleared with the Division President and Executive Director before they are begun and may require Board approval. This avoids unnecessary duplication of efforts within both the Division and ALA.
- All projects that require financial support must be approved by the Division Board before they may be undertaken. Budget requests for the next fiscal year are made before, during, or immediately following the preceding Midwinter Meeting.
- If a committee wishes to sponsor a program meeting at the Annual Conference, the program must have final approval at the preceding Midwinter Meeting, but the initial request must be made at the preceding Annual Conference.
- Committee members are encouraged to select local associates as ex-officio task forces to assist them in the performance of their committee work.

It has always been the Division's goal to provide at the national level a forum in which the creativity and experience of the broadest possible segment of the profession is represented. These steps are undertaken to further that goal by providing an area of involvement for librarians who may themselves be unable to attend the national meetings.

No expense allowances for meetings, telephone calls, or postage can be provided for these task forces and advisors and whether to utilize such assistance is left solely to the discretion of the individual chairpersons and committee members. (Policy approved by Board action, January 1972.)

Committees — Authorization and Appointments

Standing and Special Committees are authorized by the Board of Directors and may be discontinued by the Board. (Article VIII, Section 1)

Appointments of all committee members whose terms begin at the end of Annual Conference are made by the Vice-President (President-Elect). Appointments of all committee members whose term begins at the end of Midwinter are made by the President. (Article VIII, Section 4a & b)

The members and chairperson of any new committee authorized during this presidency shall be appointed by the President. (Article VIII, Section 4e)

Any vacancy occurring of a committee shall be filled by the President. (Article VIII, Section 4f)

Standing Committees

The constitution of the Newbery, Caldecott, and Sibert Committees is enumerated in the Bylaws. (Article VIII, Section 2)

The constitution of the Nominating Committee is enumerated in the Bylaws and the same article gives the procedure for elections. (Article X, Section 1)

Members of other Standing committees are appointed for overlapping terms not to exceed four years, with the possibility of reappointment for only one more term immediately succeeding. (Article VIII, Section 4b)

Designation of the chairperson of Standing Committees shall be made annually. (Article VIII, Section 4c)

Special Committees

Special Committees may be authorized by the Board to assist in the work of the Annual Conference, to study and report to the Division on special problems not in the province of any Standing Committee or to perform any other duties not specifically assigned to any officer or committee.

Special Committees for which the Board of Directors has designated no termination date shall automatically expire at the end of three years (at the time of the adjournment of the annual ALA Conference) unless otherwise ordered by the Board of Directors. (Article VIII, Section 3)

ALSC POLICY FOR SERVICE ON AWARD COMMITTEES

ALSC affirms its confidence in the integrity of members who are invited to be nominated or appointed to serve on award committees, and in the integrity of the officers or nominating committees responsible for selecting candidates. Because of the nature of the work of such committees, those who serve on them must be especially sensitive to conflict of interest situations and the appearance of impropriety. The purpose of this policy is to clarify the eligibility and responsibility of candidates asked to serve on such committees.

CONFLICT OF INTEREST

It is the policy of the Association for Library Service to Children, its Board of Directors and committees to insure that members in all of its activities avoid conflicts of interest and the appearance of conflicts of interest resulting from their activities as members of committees of the Association. In particular, no person should obtain or appear to obtain special advantages for themselves, their relatives, their employer or their close associates as a result of their services on a committee.

A conflict of interest occurs when an individual's personal or private interests may lead an independent observer reasonably to question whether the individual's professional actions or decisions are influenced by considerations of significant personal or private interest, financial or otherwise.

CONFIDENTIALITY

Committee members need to maintain a high degree of confidentiality regarding the committee's discussions, both oral and written. All committee members need to feel free to speak frankly in a closed session, knowing that their comments will not be repeated outside that room, and that they preserve the right to speak for themselves outside of that closed session.

Committee members are urged to discuss books under consideration with others throughout the year to obtain a variety of critical opinions. However, it is important to remember that, in these discussions, committee members may express only their own opinions, and may not quote the opinions of other committee members or indicate in any way which books are under consideration. It is understood that all eligible books are being considered up until the selection of the winner is made.

GUIDELINES FOR AWARD COMMITTEES

The Association for Library Service to Children grants a number of awards and it is very important that conflicts of interest and the appearance of conflicts of interest be especially avoided and that confidentiality be maintained in the process of determining who should receive the awards. It is a privilege to serve on an award committee and with that privilege come specific responsibilities to assist the Association for Library Service to Children in preventing conflicts of interest and the appearance of conflicts of interest in the award process. Each person who is nominated or appointed to serve on an award committee is expected to consider carefully whether any of his or her personal or professional interests, obligations, activities, or associations could reasonably lead to even the appearance of a conflict of interest, or breach of confidentiality, and to discuss any such potential conflicts with the ALSC Executive Director prior to accepting the nomination or appointment. Situations that arise after a committee member has begun to serve should be directed to the ALSC President, Committee Chair, Priority Group Consultant, and Executive Director. The final decision rests with the Executive Committee.

Those who accept a nomination or appointment to the book award committees, should adhere to the following guidelines:

- 1) Members who have written or illustrated a book that may be eligible for consideration during the period of service on the award committee should not accept an appointment or nomination to an award committee.
- 2) Members who have served as an advisor or consultant to an author or illustrator of a children's book, or as an advisor to a children's book publisher, beyond the scope of assigned library duties, such as providing reference service, should not accept appointment or nomination if that book may be eligible for consideration during the period of service on the award committee. This includes writing teachers guides or readers' group guides at the request of a trade book publisher.
- 3) Members should not accept appointment or nomination to an award committee if they have a close family relationship (parent, spouse/partner, son/daughter) or a personal relationship with the author or illustrator of any book that may be eligible which could reasonably be seen by an independent observer to cause a conflict of interest.
- 4) Members should not accept appointment or nomination to an award committee if they have a close family relationship (parent, spouse/partner, son/daughter) with a person employed by a U.S. trade publisher.
- 5) Members should not accept appointment or nomination to an award committee if they, or a close family member, directly own(s) equity (stock ownership, stock options, convertible note(s), or other ownership interest) that represents more than a 5% stake in a U.S. trade publisher.
- 6) Members of award committees should not reveal or publicize any confidential information learned through service on the committee; nor should they make such confidential information available to non-committee-members.
- 7) Members of award committees who run or participate in social networking web sites or software, including blogs, wikis, electronic discussion lists, and the like, should not engage in any discussions about their ALSC award committee work, or about the status of eligible books in relationship to these awards during their term of committee service.
- 8) From time to time, the Association for Library Service to Children may take other action or establish such other guidelines as may be necessary in the Association's sole discretion to protect the integrity of the award process. Questions from prospective committee members and candidates should be directed to the Executive Director; situations that arise after a committee member has begun to serve should be directed to the ALSC President, Committee Chair, Priority Group Consultant, and Executive Director. The final decision rests with the Executive Committee.

MEETING ATTENDANCE AND ACCESS TO MATERIALS

Persons elected or appointed to an award committee should:

- 1) Be able to attend all required discussion and decision meetings scheduled for the Annual and Midwinter meetings of ALA and follow procedures established by the committee.
- 2) Have ready access to the major part of the current output of children's books under consideration. It is recognized that there will be an occasional book under consideration which a committee member is unable to obtain. In such an instance, arrangements for review copies may be made as prescribed in the committee's guidelines.

Although these requirements may limit membership on a committee, wise selection requires complete participation of all members of the committee.

FREQUENCY OF SERVICE ON CALDECOTT, NEWBERY, AND SIBERT COMMITTEES

No individual may serve on either Caldecott, Newbery, or Sibert Award Committees more often than once every five years. This guideline will apply to Newbery, Caldecott, and Sibert Award Committees only, as these are committees to which members are elected and books eligible are numerous. This guideline will not apply to the selection of nominees for Chair. This guideline will not apply to other ALSC prestigious award committees.

Violation of any of the above guidelines may result in dismissal from the award committee and may preclude service from future award committees.

Do you understand and agree to adhere to the guidelines for service on the award committee as outlined herein and agree to adhere to such other guidelines as the Association for Library Service to Children may hand down from time to time?

Orientation Sheet for New Committee Chairpersons

COMMITTEE YEAR: Begins the day after the close of the Annual Conference and continues until the close of the Annual Conference the following year.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES: The function of the committee is explained in the letter of appointment. The chair is responsible for:

1. directing and carrying out regular and special assignments of the committee;
2. keeping committee members informed about the work of their committee;
3. replying promptly to all inquiries on problems in their field of work;
4. arranging meetings at Midwinter Meetings and Annual Conferences;
5. making semi-annual reports to the President and Board of Directors on the progress of work assigned the committee;
6. sending copies of all correspondence to the President and the Executive Director for information; and
7. knowing and following the policies and procedures in the ALSC Division Leadership Manual.

The committee chair is responsible for leading the committee. The achievement of the group during any year and the success of projects undertaken are due in large part to the chair's leadership. Initiation and completion of expanded or related projects indicate significant committee progress.

The chair accepts responsibility for making recommendations regarding the removal of committee members who are not fulfilling their obligations. The chair should also be prepared to make recommendations on reappointments of contributing committee members.

PROCEDURES: Whenever possible, specific procedures should be set up for the work of the committee. Many committees have established procedures which are followed from year to year. As soon as the chair receives the complete list of committee members, a letter should be sent out introducing the members; explaining the work of the year; outlining procedures; setting up a plan of work for the year, including provision for progress report or action at the Midwinter Meeting; and a statement of what is to be completed by the Annual Conference.

MEETINGS: A meeting request form from Conference Services at ALA Headquarters is sent to committee chairs long in advance of the Midwinter Meeting and Annual Conference asking them to register meeting room and equipment needs. The deadline in that letter must be observed. (Meetings of committees not scheduled in this way are irregular, unlisted in the official program, and not included in the official proceedings of the conference.) It is the responsibility of the chair to contact committee members regarding meetings at regular conferences.

If a committee wants to have a program meeting, or is interested in promoting a workshop or pre-conference, the chair should follow the procedures outlined in the ALSC Division Leadership Manual.

New committee members should be invited to committee meetings during the Annual Conference to orient them in committee work. Names of new members will be sent to the chair as soon as they are known at the Division office.

MEETING AGENDAS/COVER SHEETS: Chairs submit conference meeting agendas with a Pre-Midwinter Meeting/Annual Conference Agenda Cover Sheet to the President, Vice president/president-elect, Priority Group Consultant and ALSC Executive Director one month prior to the Midwinter Meeting and Annual Conference. If Chairs wish to appear before the Board at conference, it should be noted on the Agenda Cover Sheet. A committee chair may report directly to the Board at his/her request or the Board's.

PROCEEDINGS: Proceedings of meetings are to be turned in during conference, if possible, or within three weeks of the end of the conference to the Executive Director. The Post-Midwinter Meeting/Annual Conference Committee Report form is available at the ALSC table in the ALA Office Area onsite and on the ALSC Web site under “Board & Committee Work” and “Forms.”

STATIONERY AND POSTAGE: If division stationery is needed, it can be requested from the office. Frequently individual libraries are willing to assume the expense of postage for committee work. In cases where this cannot be assumed by the library, the division will reimburse the member, if funds have been budgeted for such expenses. (Consult the Division Leadership Manual for reimbursement procedures.)

EXPENSES: Expenses should not be incurred unless funds appear in the current ALSC budget for such expenses. (Consult the Division Leadership manual for reimbursement procedures.)

PUBLICITY: It is desirable that the Executive Director be advised of any publicity contemplated by a committee, in order that the work of various groups may not conflict. Drafts of press releases are sent to the Executive Director for review and submission to the ALA Public Information Office for preparation and release. Reports or articles on the work or on studies of a committee may be published only with the permission of the Board of Directors; such reports and articles, when approved for publication, must be offered first to ALA periodicals, with Children and Libraries having first refusal rights. Deadlines for copy for Children and Libraries are: Spring issue—early February (Conference information must be in immediately following the Midwinter Meeting); Summer/fall issue—early May; Winter issue—early August.

RESIGNATIONS: Resignations from committee assignments should be sent to the President with copies to the Executive Director. If the Chair finds it necessary to resign, he/she should send a letter of resignation to the President with copies to the Executive Director, Priority Group Consultant, and to the members of the committee.

RESEARCH: All ALSC committees are directed by the ALSC Board (January 1975) to report, at an early stage, intended research projects involving data gathering in any form to the ALSC Research and Development Committee.

FORWARDING OF MATERIAL: Each outgoing chair should forward to his/her successor all committee material of interest. Outdated materials should be sent to the Executive Director. When a committee is discharged, the chair's files should be forwarded to the Executive Director for the archives.

Committee chairs will find the following ALA and ALSC policy and procedure guides helpful:

ALA Handbook of Organization

ALSC Division Leadership Manual

Orientation Sheet for New Committee Members

The work of the committee is the center from which the total program of the Division evolves. To function effectively, each member of a committee must assume a share of the total responsibility assigned that unit. He/She should participate actively in the work of the committee and carry out the work assigned him/her by the chair. He/She should answer all correspondence promptly and thoroughly.

When a committee is established, its function is clearly defined and stated by the Board of Directors. This function is included in the letter of invitation to become a member of the committee. The committee member also ought to become familiar with the work of the committee in its relation to the total program of the Division and of ALA. (See the ALA Handbook of Organization, latest edition.)

Specific duties for each member are assigned by the committee chair who also informs members regarding meetings during the annual Midwinter Meeting and Annual Conference.

When accepting membership on a committee, one understands that as a matter of ALA policy, regular attendance at committee meetings during Midwinter and Annual Conference is expected. Although some amount of committee work can be carried on satisfactorily through correspondence, most assignments of committees require a meeting together of the committee in order to be effectively completed. If fulfilling this complete responsibility becomes impossible, a letter of resignation should be sent promptly to the Division President with copies to the Executive Director and to the chair of the committee. Experience has shown that for effective committee work, the total group must meet together regularly.

If a committee member is dissatisfied with the work of the committee or the chair, he/she should express his/her dissatisfaction to the chair. If the matter is not cleared up to his/her satisfaction, he/she should write to the Division President with copies to the Executive Director and to his/her chair. The President will take whatever action seems appropriate.

Committee members should forward any committee material of importance to the chair at the end of the committee assignment.

It is suggested that committee members consult the Division section in the ALA Handbook of Organization, which gives an overall picture of the organization of the Division. A copy of our Bylaws is available upon request from the Division office.

ALA Representation to Outside Organizations

ALA has had for many years official representation to outside organizations. It also cooperates with other organizations in the establishment of Councils, Joint Committees and other groups which can work together in activities of mutual interest. When the work of an outside organization falls within the field of responsibility of one division, that division names the ALA representative. When an organization to which we do not now have representation asks ALA to name a representative, the decision on whether or not to make the appointment is made by the Board of Directors.

Organizations to which ALA currently appoints representatives are listed in the ALA Handbook of Organization. Appointments made by the divisions are so indicated.

PROCEDURES:

1. The Division Executive Director should determine whether the group to which the ALA division has maintained representation wishes to continue this representation. Recommendations regarding desirability of adding representation should be presented to the Deputy Director for submission. When a group to which ALA divisions have had representation wishes to discontinue such representation, or if the group ceases to exist, the office of the Deputy Director should be so notified.
2. The division makes the appointment and advises the office of the Deputy Director of the name of the new representative for the official record.
3. The Deputy Director informs the organization of the name of ALA's representative, requesting that further information be sent directly to the representative. The Deputy Director also writes a letter to the representative confirming the appointment.
4. The Executive Director should obtain reports from each of the representatives at the end of the committee year. Report forms are available from the office of the Deputy Director where a record of such representation is maintained.
5. Representatives' reports are sent through the Deputy Director's office to the Executive Director of the division which arranged for the representation. Itemized expense accounts are sent through the Deputy Director's office to Accounting.

ALSC Procedure For Implementing ALA Open Meeting Policy

The ALA Policy on Open Meetings, 7.4.3., is as follows:

"All meetings of the American Library Association and its units are open to all members and to members of the press. Registration requirements apply. Closed meetings may be held only for the discussion of matters affecting the privacy of individuals or institutions."

In January, 1981, ALA Council adopted a statement interpreting this policy (Council Document #24) which the Association for Library Service to Children endorses. Committee chairs should familiarize themselves with this statement and its guidelines, for chairs are responsible for ensuring both the right of the membership to hear the business deliberations of the association and the privacy rights of individuals and institutions.

Generally speaking, the working sessions of ALSC committees are open to members who may listen to, but probably not participate in, a committee's deliberations. Members who accept appointment to a committee must also be willing to accept the spirit of the open meeting philosophy and be willing to make every effort to ensure that members observing can hear and view the proceedings.

When a chair sees that the business of a committee will require a closed session, she/he should indicate "closed" in the appropriate box on the meeting request form which must be filled out for the ALA Conference Arrangements Office before the midwinter and annual conferences. This ensures that the meeting will be designated "Closed" in the conference program, and adequately notifies the membership that the session is not open.

If the chair anticipates that only part of the business of a committee meeting requires a closed session, she/he should arrange to close at the beginning or end of the meeting time period, and should, if possible, indicate the time of the closed portion when filling out the meeting request form.

It is recognized that it is not always possible to anticipate closed meetings. If the need to close a meeting develops during a committee's deliberations, the chair should try to rearrange the agenda so that the closed session can take place at the beginning or at the end of the scheduled meeting time, and should announce the timing as soon as possible.

If a chair is uncertain about closing a meeting or a portion of a meeting, the situation should be referred to the Priority Group Consultant, who may consult with the ALSC President before deciding on the best course for the chair to take.

In reporting actions taken in closed sessions, a chair should follow the procedure outlined in the ALA Interpretive Statement.

Procedure for Reporting Inappropriately Closed Meetings:

A member who feels that a meeting of any ALSC unit has been inappropriately closed may make a complaint in writing to the ALSC President, stating the reasons for the objection to the closed session. The President and/or the ALSC Executive Committee will consider complaints as soon as possible and any action taken will affect future meetings, but it is unlikely that an immediate decision (during the meeting in question) can be made. The President will notify the complainant of the resolution of the complaint, and will report the incident to the Board at its next session. If the member is not satisfied with the decision of the ALSC President, the matter may be appealed (in writing) to the ALSC Board.

ALSC Travel Policy

Travel funds for the Executive Director shall be planned and budgeted in advance and travel undertaken with the concurrence of the ALSC Directors based on semi-annual forecasts of travel deemed necessary to ALSC's interests; unforecast travel by the Executive Director shall be undertaken with the concurrence of the ALSC President followed by reports at semi-annual conferences that include the source of funds allocated to cover such expenses.

Travel by the Executive Director at the expense of ALA or any other organization or institution shall be undertaken only with reasonable prior notice to and the concurrence of ALSC's President.

Revised Draft, June 1983:

- A. Officers, directors, members, and headquarters staff may travel on ALSC business of the following types:
 - 1. To represent the Association in an official capacity.
 - 2. To present a speech or paper as an ALSC representative.
 - 3. To discharge administrative responsibilities.
 - 4. To attend or participate in a program or function useful or beneficial to ALSC.
- B. Representation and Reimbursement:
 - 1. It is expected that the ALSC President shall represent the Association whenever possible.
 - 2. As the ALSC budget permits, travel by officers, directors, or members of ALSC undertaken in connection with or furtherance of divisional business will be either wholly or partially reimbursed except in the instances of ALA conference attendance.
- C. Approval and Review of Travel:
 - 1. All estimated needs for travel expenses must be requested through the established budgetary procedures which provide for discussion and approval by the ALSC Board of Directors initially at the Midwinter Conference and finally at the Annual Conference.
 - 2. It is expected that the Executive Director and the President of ALSC will review their travel activity with the Board of Directors at each Midwinter and Annual Conference. Such review will include travel plans for the ensuing 6-month period, and the Board shall determine the priority of such plans in light of current budgetary limitations.
 - 3. Official representation, opportunities to make speeches or present papers, or other duties involving travel which arise between conferences shall be assigned to appropriate members of the Executive Committee or by the President in consultation with the Executive Director, taking into consideration such factors as distance, time, requirements of the assignment, and benefits to ALSC. All interim decisions regarding travel shall be promptly reported in memoranda to the ALSC Board by the President or the Executive Director.

Organizational Definitions

June 27, 1990

The following definitions of various organizational groups in ALA supplement the definitions of committees in the ALA Handbook of Organization and provide guidelines for determining the appropriate group to carry out particular functions.

Assembly

An assembly is a group of representatives or delegates gathered together to perform one or more of the following functions:

1. Acting as an advisory body to a parent or sponsoring group.
2. Serving as a liaison between the sponsoring group and the groups represented in the assembly.
3. Providing a forum for the exchange of information and a communication channel for reporting concerns and actions of either group to the other.
4. Promoting cooperation and enhancing effectiveness between the groups represented.

An assembly is established by a sponsoring group, usually an ALA standing committee or division, and report to it. Delegates or representatives from other groups are invited to participate. Selection of delegates or representatives may be made by the sponsoring group or by the group being invited.

Assemblies may determine what activities of the assembly are limited to delegates or representatives (such as voting, speaking, preparing reports, etc.) and which activities are open to any interested individual (such as speaking, serving on committees, etc.) Assembly delegates may be required to register their attendance.

Coalition

A coalition is an alliance of organizations or independent groups, usually between one or more ALA units and outside groups, formed to work together for a common purpose or on a specific issue. Functions of a coalition may include:

1. Stimulating public awareness.
2. Gathering information or investigating a concern.
3. Disseminating and communicating information.
4. Providing a forum for the exchange of information.
5. Identifying other organizations with a similar interest or concern.

Organizations who join a coalition will designate the position and/or individual who will represent them. The makeup of the coalition will be determined by the organizations forming the coalition. Coalitions may be informal and are not usually a legally constituted body, although their member organizations may be.

Discussion Group (see Interest Group)

Interest Group (also called a Discussion Group)

An interest group (discussion group) is a group of individuals who share common interests and concerns, and whose need to come together is recognized by a sponsoring unit (division, section, or round table). The area of interest is clearly articulated in the function statement and when the need for the group diminishes, it may be dropped or its functions turned over to a committee. Sponsoring units form interest groups to provide a forum for members interested in the specific topic to carry out one or more of the following functions:

1. Sharing or exchanging information and encouraging new ideas.
2. Discussing issues and exploring questions and problems pertinent to the group's interest.
3. Raising awareness of the group and/or informing others.
4. Encouraging actions such as research, surveys, conference programs, and sponsoring unit projects.
5. Monitoring current developments.
6. Influencing policy decisions of others.
7. Allowing individuals to establish networks and communication links.

Interest groups may include any interested individual or may be limited to members of the sponsoring body. The makeup and details of operation are determined by the sponsoring unit.

Addendum

1. At the request of the Board, O&B made the following recommendation for the definition of "Discussion Group" (ALSC Item #30.1):

A discussion group is a gathering of the Conference participants who meet informally to discuss topics of common interest. Discussion groups meet during Midwinter and/or Annual Conference. Results of their discussion may be prepared for distribution to the relevant parent body and, if desired, to others who may be interested in the topic. A leader may be chosen by the group to coordinate discussion.

The Board accepted this recommendation for submission to COO.

Midwinter, 1993

Task Force

A task force is a membership group whose charge is to complete a specific task or to consider a particular issue, usually within a designated and limited time frame. The designated time frame may be defined by the nature of the task, or it may be set forth in the function statement. In all cases an effort should be made to determine a target date for completion of the task so that the work of the task force can be reviewed in a timely manner.

Functions of a task force may include the following:

1. Gathering information and making recommendations.
2. Studying an issue and preparing a report.
3. Carrying out a specific project or activity.

A task force is used to address critical, urgent, or ongoing situations which require a strong, visible organizational effort and/or an activist response.
