Join SustainRT

Standing together in membership lets librarians and library staff access important resources to address problems you might otherwise face alone. To help meet these challenges, ALA works for members in new and innovative ways. ALA encourages you to investigate, use, and engage with the resources available to you, collectively supporting your profession while enhancing your own knowledge, abilities, and career. Through SustainRT, connect with other members who share similar interests and passions!

What can SustainRT membership do for me?

Serve as:
- a professional hub for sustainability resources and learning opportunities
- a venue to exchange ideas and create solutions
- a network to build lasting relationships

The foremost group of library and information professionals committed to sustainability.
What is SustainRT?
SustainRT encourages members to exchange ideas and opportunities regarding sustainability in order to move toward a more equitable, healthy and economically viable society. The mission of the organization is to provide resources for the library community to support sustainability through curriculum development; collections; exhibits; events; advocacy, communication, library buildings and space design.

What can SustainRT membership do for me?

- Offer virtual learning opportunities SustainRT’s webinars offer convenient and timely learning opportunities on emerging trends and current topics in sustainability. For example, developing an action plan for your library; space and design; library programming; resource creation and discovery.

- Offer on-site learning opportunities Annual conferences, meetings, preconferences and institutes offer additional opportunities to learn and connect.

- Invite you to engage with a supportive group of like-minded professionals SustainRT cultivates interactions with your colleagues through the listserv, SustainRT website, ALA Connect community, learning opportunities, and conference events.
