Bruce Samuelson from Bernan will be at the IDTF meeting at the ALA Midwinter Conference in Denver. Bernan will also have an exhibit booth: #2108. His email is b_samuelson@bernan.com, phone: 301-459-2255 x5711. He’s happy to meet with librarians during the conference.

Bernan was pleased to work with UN Publications to present the first UN Book Days Conference at UN headquarters in New York in October. They hosted exhibit tables representing the FAO, WTO, UNWTO, World Bank, and the Office of Official Publications of the EU agencies, as well as making presentations on behalf of the World Bank, WHO, World Trade Organization, and World Tourism Organization. Virtually all UN agencies were represented at this free and open to the public two-day event. Hundreds attended, including many librarians. It was so successful that the UN will be hosting another in 2009, and each year after. Tentative dates in 2009 are April/May or Sept./Oct. Bernan is interested in knowing who would attend and which time is best.

The World Tourism Organization’s online product, e-unwto, has new low pricing, and they are introducing a new viewer this month that will be highly functional, based on Metapress technology. Good pricing, great technology, and an important industry makes this an online resource worth looking at. Anyone interested in more information or a free trial is encouraged to contact Bernan.

IDTF members are invited to subscribe to Bernan’s free monthly email newsletter that focuses primarily on new and forthcoming international agency publications, as well as other publications and activities of interest. Sign up online at Bernan’s web site, call toll-free at 1-800-274-4447, or stop by booth #2108. Also, Bernan has some additional exciting developments that have not been finalized but should be “official” by Midwinter, so Bruce will share that information at the IDTF meeting in Denver. Please feel free to send feedback or suggestions to Bruce.

Canadian Official Publications

The very positive news about official Canadian publications continues to be movement to electronic format resulting in increased access.
• The Library of Parliament indexing section announced that the indexes of Senate committee proceedings are being put online. See the Standing Committee on Agriculture and Forestry as an example: http://www.parl.gc.ca/common/Committee_SenProceed.asp?Language=E&Parl=37&Ses=3&comm_id=2

• The more general Canadian Parliament site provides Committee indexes. Site address is http://www.parl.gc.ca/common/index.asp?Language=E, go to “Committee Business,” “Committee List,” “Choose an Option” which allows you to select an older parliamentary session, and then select “Committee Proceedings,” and, if available, select “Index.”

• The Canadian Institutes of Health Research are instituting a new policy of open access to health research publications which will apply to all grants awarded after January 1, 2008. “The CIHR will require its researchers to ensure that their original research articles are freely available online within six months of publication.” Researchers are directed to several options such as depositing the article in PubMed Central or an institutional repository or by publishing in an open access journal. See: http://www.cihr-irsc.gc.ca/e/34851.html

• Library and Archives Canada (LAC) Initiatives
  o Beginning in 2005, LAC initiated a broad-based discussion centering on digital issues, consulted with over 200 stakeholders and hosted a 2006 National Summit that ultimately resulted in the creation of the Canadian Digital Information Strategy. The comment period for this draft extended through November 2007. The draft is available at: http://www.collectionscanada.ca/cdis/012033-1000-e.html
  o The “Government of Canada Web Archive” is now available to search at: http://www.collectionscanada.gc.ca/webarchives/search/index-e.html. Starting in December 2005, under the provisions of the Library and Archives of Canada Act, LAC is collecting representative samples of Canadian websites. Access is available by keyword, department name, and URL searching. It is also possible to search by specific format type, e.g. .pdf. “At the time of its launch in Fall 2007, approximately 100 million digital objects (over 4 terabytes) of archived Federal Government website data was made accessible via the LAC website.” For more information, see: http://www.collectionscanada.gc.ca/webarchives/index-e.html;jsessionid=C2AAD78D487243CE5931DF7B211B5E3A
  o The Initiative for Equitable Library Access (IELA). “Library and Archives Canada has been asked to develop and cost a strategy for implementing nation-wide partnerships, activities and services to meet the long-term library and information access needs of Canadians with print disabilities. This will be completed over the next three years.” More information, including the implementation strategy, background reports, and key activities are available at: http://www.collectionscanada.ca/accessinfo/005003-3000-10-2007-e.html

United Nations Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean – ECLAC

The Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean, on the web at www.eclac.org, is a Regional Commissions of the United Nations, one of five covering the globe. Publications of ECLAC are most often published first in Spanish, and then at a later time in English, Portuguese and some other languages. Its reports and analysis of key economic developments in the region are always made freely available on the web as soon as possible. Publications can be downloaded and information on how to order a printed copy is also provided. ECLAC policy is to maintain indefinite access to all digital copies of ECLAC publications. Due to space constraints, access might be to an online publications archives.

- ECLAC Documentation Database http://www.eclac.org/biblioteca/
  Please explore this database of ECLAC publications. It was developed in the ECLAC Library to maintain and control ECLAC documents, and covers the time period from 1948 to date.

Now featured on the ECLAC web site are multi-media publications for download, as well as coverage of the effects of the current global economic crisis on countries in the ECLAC region, and more general publications on homelessness and hunger in this area. Questions regarding the publications and/or documents of the Economic Commission for Latin America, are welcome, and can be addressed to Ellen Schaffer at ellen.schaffer@cepal.org

New on the FAO web site at http://www.fao.org/ is a link to their “EASYPol, Policy Made Easy” website. Direct link is http://www.fao.org/easypol/output/index_main.asp?lang=EN&idLang=1 Maintained by the FAO Agricultural Policy Support Service This is an on-line, interactive multilingual repository of downloadable resource materials for capacity development in policy making for food, agriculture and rural development. Organization is in inter-related and cross-linked modules organised by topic, type and training paths that can be accessed through user-friendly search facilities.

Targeted audiences include:

- Policy advisors and practitioners, who will find operational tools, and guidelines to support their work.
- Trainers in policy matters, who will find capacity building materials to build training courses.
- Policy makers, who will find concise and focused overviews regarding different development issues
- Students, who may download materials to complement or deepen their curricula.
- Staff of various organizations such as ministries and international organizations, who will find materials for self-training as well as information on the newest developments.

The Help feature is well organized and useful. Existing print materials as well as new sources are being are being added. Certain EASYPol modules are consolidated into print publications in the CAFAP (Capacity Development in Food and Agriculture Polices) series produced by the Agricultural Policy Support Service.

Human Development Reports

Human Development Reports, on the web at: http://hdr.undp.org/reports/ remain a remarkable and often unique source for solid data and analysis for county and regional information on a global basis. Since the beginning of publication of Human Development Reports with the global report of 1990, media, academic, and business – especially in financial area interest in these reports has remained strong and indeed even grows as the number of reports increases. The Global report is usually issued annually, and is free on the web with searchable tables, and also available for purchase through Oxford University Press. While a stated project and publication series of the United Nations Development Program, many – perhaps most other parts of the world body also contribute.
The global Human Development Report for 2009 will be on the theme of migration and is titled: Human Development Report 2009: Human Development on the Move. Due for release in paper later this year, it’s theme is “putting people in the center of development” and looking at the effects of global migration.

The number of national, regional and even sub-national and sub-regional continues to grow, and often provides up-to-date and reliable information in both narrative and statistics forms that simply isn’t available anywhere else. An important difficulty is making use of these reports is that many older ones are listed on the web page, but are not available in either paper or electronic formats. In addition, the formats of some of the pdf files is not compatible with pdf software, and some titles in pdf simply won’t open. Hopefully this problem can be solved in the near future by the Human Development Report staff and offices.

Up to date, broad-based, and reliable information on both global and local levels, this series is highly recommended for all types and sizes of libraries, academic, school, public or research, whether large or small, where there is an interest in international affairs. The price of print publications is low, and with Internet access, all are free. A great resource.

International Labour Organization - ILO

The Internaitonal Labour Organization should not be overlooked as a source for both human rights and social justice information at the country level and sometimes below the national level in a country and for a region. The ILO’s web site proclaims “80 years Working for Social Justice.” The web site should not be overlooked as an important information resource itself for what the ILO has accomplished, and what its continuing objectives continue to be. ILO’s scope covers:

- Child Labor
- Enterprise Development
- Gender Issues
- Industrial Relations
- International Migration
- Labor Law
- Occupational Safety And Health,
- Social Security
- Workers’ Rights.

Renouf Provides Comprehensive Coverage of ILO!
Renouf provides a full range of ILO publications, including backfiles. Visit Renouf’s booth # 1415 at ALA in Denver to learn more about ILO publications.

Recent Titles of Special Note:

fundamental Conventions and the Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work and its follow-up” - ILO Description.

Key ILO Databases, authoritative, free and with excellent functionality, include the following:

- ASISTDOC - Employment Intensive Investment Programme. Bibliographic Database containing over 8,000 documents relating to labour-based technologies and local level planning, produced by the ILO as well as its partners.

- CISDOC - Occupational Safety and Health Database. Some 50,000 citations of documents on occupational health and safety: law and regulations, chemical safety data sheets, training material, journal articles, books and ILO conventions.

- IPEC-SIMPOC - Statistical Information and Monitoring Programme on Child Labour. Can be accessed in the form of national child labour survey reports, statistical country-briefs and other resources derived from household-based SIMPOC surveys. Includes a large number of micro-datasets.

- ILOLEX - Database of International Labour Standards. Full-text database of ILO conventions and recommendations, ratification information, comments of the Committee of Experts and the Committee on Freedom of Association, discussions of the Conference Committee, representations, complaints, General Surveys, and numerous related documents.

- KILM - Key Indicators of the Labour Market. Country-level data on 20 key indicators.

- LABORDOC - ILO Library's Database. Contains references and full text access to the world's literature on the world of work. - NATLEX - Database of National Labour, Social Security and Related Human Rights Legislation. Includes abstracts of legislation and relevant citation information, indexed by keywords and by subject classifications. Each record in NATLEX appears in only one of the three ILO official languages (English/French/Spanish). Where possible, the full text of the law or a relevant electronic source is linked to the record.
LexisNexis - formerly CIS

LexisNexis® provides important information and services to the International Documents Community through the Statistical DataSets product. Lexis Statistical contains deep time series as well as dozens of datasets updated on a daily, weekly, or monthly basis. This data is refreshed on the day of release ensuring the currency of the data. For more information visit http://academic.lexisnexis.com/online-services/statistical-datasets-overview.aspx.

IDTF members are encouraged to visit the LexisNexis Booth No. 1738 at the ALA Midwinter Meeting in Denver. Lexis Statistical provides the only comprehensive index to the broad range of statistical publications from international agencies, and also full text in the corresponding Microfiche Set. – still quite important when complete acquisition of international materials containing statistics is so hard to achieve or may be out of scope for a library, even though those statistics still are important for research. Also, important materials in both foreign and international areas can be found through its flagship LexisNexis Academic and other web-based Lexis® and Nexis® research services. Information on LexisNexis products can be found at http://www.lexisnexis.com/ and also http://academic.lexisnexis.com/, where catalogs are available for download.

LexisNexis® Statistical DataSets is now available for both the academic and public markets. Built upon data from 120 licensed and public domain datasets, totaling 1.5 billion data points, Statistical Datasets enables building statistical tables and charts from multiple sources in a single interface. Statistical DataSets is available as a module within LexisNexis Statistical or as a stand-alone service. For more information or to get a free trial, please call us at 800-638-8380, e-mail us at academicinfo@lexisnexis.com or visit http://academic.lexisnexis.com/online-services/statistical-datasets-overview.aspx.

China Data Included. Included here are detailed statistics from the China Data Center, which maintains hundreds of social, demographic, and economic indicators for China, from the 1940s to the present. This unique data is available both at the National and Sub-National levels

MyiLibrary Electronic Publications Service

MyiLibrary, on the web at http://www.myilibrary.com is represented by Ingram Digital Group in North America. Its overall parent group is Coutts Information Services. MyiLibrary distributes and hosts numerous electronic books, journals and other content from a wide range of publishers including World Bank, ILO, UN, UN AIDS, WHO, IOM, OECD, IMO and IAEA, in some cases the only access to the electronic form. Some are available on the web of the agency, but are often difficult to find. MyiLibrary solves this problem in a handy way. MyiLibrary has created a reasonable pricing structure for its international documents, A great added enhancement is that Coutts provides good quality full Marc catalog records for all individual titles at no additional cost with a MyiLibrary subscription.

For more information on this beautifully repackaged service, contact:Mark McQuillan, Senior Manager, Sales & Content Development, MyiLibrary, Ingram Digital Group Phone: Office 720.406.6971 Cell: 720.684.8132 MyiLibrary will be at Ingram Digital Group Booth #2304 at the 2009 ALA Midwinter Meeting in Denver.

Organizaton for Economic Cooperation and Development - OECD

OECD continues to improve the statistical components of SourceOECD. OECD.Stat enables users to search for and extract data from across OECD’s many databases included in SourceOECD Statistics. While not all databases are fully available, there is access to around 300 datasets. Improvements will continue over the coming months, as part of OECD’s Statistics Dissemination project. Non-subscribers can sign-up for a free seven-day trial of OECD.Stat via SourceOECD.

The OECD Index of Statistical Variables provides an alphabetical listing of frequently-requested variables that link to freely-available, ready-made Excel spreadsheets. The variables are listed in alphabetical order with the database or publication where they can be found. While the databases or publications contain a much larger range of related data than can be found in these spreadsheets, the index provides a variety of statistics that are downloadable. For those who do not subscribe to SourceOECD, the index provides access to an important number of variables.

Have you seen a chart, graph, or table in an OECD publication whose data you would like to have in an Excel format? Remember, this is now possible with StatLinks. At the right-hand corner of a large number of tables, graphs, and charts there is a Digital Object Identifier (DOI) which when clicked from a PDF e-book opens into an Excel spreadsheet. If you are looking at a print version, you can type the DOI number into your internet browser. Most of the statistical annuals, outlooks, and economic surveys have StatLinks. And the number of spreadsheets continues to grow.

Organization of American States – OAS

The OAS website continues to make many official documents and publications available. OAS publications cover a broad range of topics.

- Many publications are available full-text online  http://www.oas.org/documents/eng/publications.asp
- The Documents section includes the OAS charter, Resolutions and Decisions, Treaties and Agreements, and Speeches at  http://www.oas.org/documents/eng/documents.asp
- The Lista General De Documentos Oficiales De La OEA, a bibliography of Official Documents is not yet available online.

OAS documents and publications can be ordered in print or microfiche from the Columbus Memorial Library. Annual subscriptions to Official Records are also available. Contact the Documents Librarian, René Gutiérrez at (202) 458-6037 or rgutierrez@oas.org

August Imholz, Readex Vice-President, invites all librarians interested in international documents to stop by Readex Booth No. 1344 at the ALA Midwinter Meeting in Denver. Mr. Imholz can also be contacted by phone at (301) 572-5626 or by email at imholtz99@atlantech.net.

UN Documents and Indexing. In addition to the flagship AccessUN index, by subscription on the web, this index provide unique indexing for early UN documents, beginning with those issued in 1945, and not otherwise indexed electronically through about 1985. Readex also published the UN documents in microfiche which many libraries rely on for archival backup to the current electronic products, not knowing how permanent files on servers will be.

FBIS Online. In 2009, Readex will begin providing online access by subscription to Foreign Broadcast Information Service (FBIS) Daily Reports published between 1941 and 1974. To be full-text searchable for the first time, FBIS Daily Reports, 1941-1974 will offer online access to international news and broadcasts from around the world on topics ranging from the Axis alliance and colonialism in Africa to the new Islamic countries of the Middle East and the Vietnam War.

As the United States' principal record of political and historical open source intelligence, FBIS Daily Reports offer researchers at all levels valuable insight into decades of turbulent international politics and world history. Many of these FBIS translations of foreign broadcasts and firsthand accounts may be all that remain from what vanished into the airways or onto the classified recording disks of various national intelligence services.

"Featuring intercepted broadcasts from independent media organs, translated reports of clandestine anti-government groups from hundreds of countries worldwide and official propaganda, these Daily Reports provide a written record of what we knew and when we knew it, as well as background on the issues and events that preceded today’s crises,” says August A. Imholtz, Readex Vice President for Government Documents. "Scholars and students will discover national and occasionally local perspectives on how foreign countries and their leaders were seen during that time and how we, the United States and the West, were also seen.” This unique open source intelligence archive also offers international views on such figures as Salvador Allende, Fidel Castro, Winston Churchill, Ngo Dinh Diem, Francois Duvalier, Mohandas Gandhi, Adolf Hitler, Muhammad Ali Jinnah, Ruhollah Khomeini, Nelson Mandela, Imre Nagy, Joseph Stalin, Mao Tse-tung, Chaim Weizmann and many others.

FBIS Daily Reports, 1941-1974 will include English-language, full-text broadcasts and news transcripts—translated as needed—from Africa, Asia and the Pacific, China, Eastern and Western Europe, Latin America, the Middle East and the Soviet Union. Scheduled for initial release in fall 2009, FBIS Daily Reports, 1941-1974 will serve as an essential complement to Readex’s acclaimed FBIS Daily Reports, 1974-1996.

ILO from Renouf

Renouf is the official North American Distributor for the ILO and is pleased to announce the release of two new reports that will be updated periodically.

- World of Work 2008 (978-92-2-9014-868-5) looks at the problem faced by a majority of countries around the world: the incomes of rich people have grown faster than is the case for their poorer counterparts. To what extent is this a problem for society and the economy? What are the factors behind observed trends and what can policy makers do to address excessive income inequality? This report looks at these issues and provides answers to some of the key questions of today’s international debate. Standing orders may be placed for both of these new titles through Renouf’s serials department serials@renoufbooks.com.

ILO is also issuing an new edition of a key publication: Fundamental Principles of Occupational Health and Safety 2nd Edition (978-92-2-1204541) is a practical guide to developing effective occupational safety and health (OSH) policies and programs based on the provisions defined in the core ILO standards and instruments concerning OSH.

Other New and Noteworthy Titles available from Renouf

- Africa: Atlas of our Changing Environment (978-92-807-2871-2) Stunning 400-page atlas which brings to light stories of environmental change in some 100 locations spread across Africa. Some 300 satellite images, 300 ground photographs, 150 maps, and graphs and charts.
- Canada Yearbook 2008 (978-0-660-19840-8) From the day Canada was born, there has been a Canada Yearbook. First published in 1867, the book is the premier printed reference on Canada and its people.
- Europe’s Demographic Future: Growing Regional Imbalances (978-3-9812473-0-5) Based on a system of statistical indicators, the study is a comparative analysis and assessment on the demographic and economic development of 285 regions from all 27 EU member states as well as of non-EU members, Iceland, Norway and Switzerland. The cross-country comparison shows what developments must be anticipated and the approaches each country has adopted to meet the challenges facing them.
- European Judicial Systems 2008 Edition (978-92-871-6521-3) is the new edition of the report of the European Commission for the Efficiency of Justice (CEPEJ), which evaluates the functioning of the judicial systems of 45 Council of Europe member states.
- From Poverty to Power: How Active Citizens and Effective States can Change the World (978-0 85598-593-6) argues that it requires a radical redistribution of power, opportunities, and assets to break the cycle of poverty and inequality and to give poor people power over their own destinies. The forces driving this transformation are active citizens and effective states.

- Growing Unequal: Income Distribution and Poverty in OECD Countries (978-92-64-04418-0) brings together a range of analyses on the distribution of economic resources in OECD countries. The evidence on income distribution and poverty covers, for the first time, all 30 OECD countries in the mid-2000’s, while information on trends extending back to the mid-1980’s is provided for two-thirds of the countries.

- Inequalities in Young People’s Health: Health Behavior in School-Aged Children International Report from the 2005/2006 Survey (978-92-890-7195-6) is a WHO collaborative cross-national study and the most comprehensive to date. It presents key findings on patterns of health among young people aged 11, 13, and 15 years in 41 countries and regions across Europe and North America.

- Progress of the World’s Women 2008/2009 (978-1-993282-770-5) asks the question “Who answers to women?” at a pivotal moment. It demonstrates that the Millennium Development Goals and other international commitments to women will only be met if gender-responsive accountability systems are put in place both nationally and internationally.

- United Nations Today (978-92-1-101160-9) Previously know as Basic Facts About the United Nations, this volume reflects the multitude of ways in which the Un touches the lives of people everywhere. It provides a comprehensive account of the many challenges facing the international community and of the joint ongoing efforts to find solutions.

- World Trade Indicators 2008 (978-0-8213-7567-9) The World Bank’s World Trade Indicators (WTI) database on the CD-ROM in this volume provides more than 300 performance indicators measuring the at-the-border and behind-the-border country trade policy, institutions, and outcomes from 1995 to 2007.
The companion volume highlights the main patterns in policy and performance revealed by the database grouping countries by region and income.

United Nations Depository Library Program

In a recent message to UN depository libraries, Coordinator Anatoli Sidorenko and his assistants, Armando Da Silva and Lucine Tegnazian, reported that the United Nations depository library program is under review, and that this process will be complete in March of this year. They are still collecting responses to a questionnaire sent to all depositories and, therefore, cannot comment on the survey’s results or their implications. But Sidorenko did write that 2009 “will bring new ways of disseminating information and knowledge, as well as organizing the distribution of UN documents and publications. We are also planning to refocus and reorient our depository libraries program.” He has also stated that the UN will be looking to reduce the cost of its publishing activities but that it is too early to say what affect this may have on the depository library program.

United Nations Environment Program - UNEP

The United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP) established in 1972, is the voice for the environment within the United Nations system. Its mission is to provide leadership and encourage partnership in caring for the environment by inspiring, informing, and enabling nations and peoples to improve their quality of life without compromising that of future generations.
The agency website is well-organized and is continually updated. As the international producer of information in the critical area of the environment, international documents librarians should keep abreast of all UNEP publications through the various access points on this site. As of January 2009, the website “Environment for Development,” is decorated and updated with the ushering in of Barack Obama as the 44th president of the United States. “mak[ing] history as he takes office with green agenda…” The top page of the site also focuses on the following topics: In Focus, Unite to Combat Climate Change, Multimedia, Ask Today’s Expert, Most Visited, UNEP Around the World, Featured, UNEP Around the World, and Thematic Areas. Other links include Resources for: Government, Scientists, Journalists, Civil Society, Business Persons, Children and Youth.

The Publications section of the website includes Recently Published, Best Sellers, Forthcoming, and Periodicals sections. There is a search engine for UNEP books. The Google search engine searches UNEP titles in addition to other related sites. Other access points include:

- EarthPrint.com, UNEP’s official online bookstore for its publications, so titles can be purchased online. It has general keyword search capability, but can be searched by topic Bestsellers are featured in the middle of the page, such as Policy Directions to 2050: A Business Contribution to the Dialogues on Cooperative Action. Titles feature a brief synopsis. Select titles are available full-text online. Publications offer both reports and statistics.
- Annual Reports (2000 forward in full-text, .pdf or .html format)
- Atlases
- Periodicals (Our Planet, vol. 16 forward available full-text online)
- Newsletters, most full-text online, including:
  - Energy, Climate and Sustainable Development
  - Global Network on Energy for Sustainable Development News
  - Great Apes Survival Project Newsletter
  - Greenhouse Gas Emission Reduction from Industry in Asia and the Pacific News
  - Sustainable Consumption Network Newsletter
  - UNEP Chemicals Newsletter
- e-Books (new)

Recent publications include:

- Environment on the Edge Environment on the Edge is a series of lectures given by leading international figures that examine our current relationship with the natural world and discuss what tomorrow might bring. 2009
- UNEP Climate Change Strategy UNEP’s Climate Change Strategy is the result of a comprehensive process involving external experts and UNEP staff from across the organization. The strategy is built on the analysis of UNEP’s political mandate, the existing portfolio of climate change activities and the areas of distinctiveness. The Climate Change Strategy provides the foundation for transforming the organization’s engagement on climate change and for developing a results-oriented program of work. UNEP will complement the activities of other institutions and will emphasize the substantial co-benefits of climate change actions and their contribution to environmental sustainability.

2008 Bestseller: Climate Action (2007) Climate Action is an international communication platform established by Sustainable Development International in partnership with the United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP) to educate businesses, governments and NGOs as to what they can do to reduce their carbon footprint and adapt to the impacts of climate change. Further, the high-profile publication and supporting website will assist institutional investors in analysing and comparing companies that are responding to the business risks and opportunities resulting from global warming.

The United Nations Industrial Development Organization - UNIDO

UNIDO (<http://www.unido.org/>) was established in 1966 and became a specialized agency of the UN in 1985. The mission of UNIDO is to mobilize knowledge, skills, information and technology to promote productive employment, a competitive economy and a sound environment. UNIDO is the only organization within the UN system promoting the creation of wealth and poverty alleviation through manufacturing. It focuses on three thematic priorities: 1) Poverty Reduction through Productive Activities, 2) Trade Capacity-Building, and (3) Energy and Environment.

The UNIDO Publications page (<http://www.unido.org/index.php?id=o6397>) provides access to UNIDO’s Industrial Development Abstracts, a database that contains over 11,000 fully indexed abstracts of UNIDO documentation and includes descriptions of major studies and reports, etc. Although the UNIDO website states that this database contains abstracts for publications from 1981 to “today,” this liaison found nothing here published after 2001. Reports abstracted in IDA are available for free as image PDF files. Until they become available online, the PDF files will be sent to requestors. Contact information is provided for ordering publications via e-mail, fax, or phone.

Free UNIDO Publications in PDF format (<http://www.unido.org/index.php?id=o3615>) include the following categories:

- Annual Reports (Since 1997) and Policy Papers
- Enterprise and Business Development (Since 1995)
- Investment and Technology Promotion (Since 2001)
- Industrial Policies and Strategies Of Different Countries (Since 1995)
- Economic Research, Including National Case Studies. (Since 2001)
- Globalization and Its Effects On Industries (Since 1995)
- Industrial Sectors (Since 1997) Sales Publications.

Categories also include competitive economy, sound environment, and productive employment. A link is provided for ordering sales publications directly from UNIDO. Important series include:

- The Industrial Development Report (IDR) “The series is intended to address crucial and emerging issues facing developing countries and economies in transition in their struggle to gain a foothold in the global economy, using manufacturing as a dynamic force. “
- World Directory of Industrial Information Sources. This is the print version of the International Referral System, a database of industrial information sources, which allows one to search for the most appropriate sources of technology and equipment.

Statistics.

UNIDO’s Industrial Statistics page (<http://www.unido.org/index.php?id=4879>) provides free access to data since 1995 on manufacturing value added (MVA) for individual countries, country groups, and the world.

Databases on CD-ROM

http://www.unido.org/index.php?id=o3699:

- UNIDO INDSTAT3 2006. Industrial Statistics Database at the 3-digit level of ISIC (Revision 2). The data are arranged according to the ISIC at the three-digit level, which provides for the inclusion of 29 industries in the manufacturing sector. Information reported by country, year and ISIC category includes number of establishments, employment, wages and salaries, output, value added, gross fixed capital formation, number of female employees and production indexes.
• UNIDO INDSTAT4 2008. Industrial Statistics Database at the 4-digit Level of ISIC (Revision 2 and 3). INDSTAT4-Rev.3 contains time series data on seven selected data items for the period 1990 onwards. The data are arranged at the 3- and 4-digit level of ISIC (Revision 3) pertaining to the manufacturing sector, which comprises 151 manufacturing categories. INDSTAT4 Rev.2 is available to the user together with the ISIC (Rev.3)-based database. The data in INDSTAT4 Rev.2 refer to the period 1981 onwards and are arranged according to ISIC (Rev.2) at the four-digit level, which comprises 81 manufacturing industries.

• UNIDO IDSDB 2008: Industrial Demand-Supply Balance Database at the 4-digit level of ISIC (Rev. 2 and 3) In addition to offering sets of production-related industrial statistics, UNIDO is making its Industrial Demand-Supply Balance Databases (IDSDB) available to external users. IDSDB contains annual time-series data (in current US dollars) on eight items: domestic output, total imports, total exports, apparent consumption, imports from industrialized countries, imports from developing countries, exports to industrialized countries, exports to developing countries.

All of these databases can be ordered using the online forms provided.

Publications sold by co-publishers http://www.unido.org/index.php?id=03700 include titles dealing with competitive economy, such as Long-Term Conflict Prevention and Industrial Development, and China in the WTO, as well as publications dealing with sound environment such as Environment and Industry in Developing Countries, and Pesticide Formulation. Links are provided for ordering from co-publishers.

United Nations Publications

The United Nations Publications website at http://unp.un.org continues to evolve. UNP has launched the French and Spanish language versions of the site, and it will soon be enhanced with new web marketing tools and search inside features.

Since July 1, 2008, special prices have applied to orders from customers in developing and least developed countries. Customers in developing countries have been entitled to a 50 percent discount, and buyers in the least developed countries have enjoyed a 75 percent discount.

Two reference works of great importance have been issued:

- The Yearbook of the United Nations online (http://unyearbook.un.org), a monumental, searchable resource including the full text of each edition of the Yearbook issued since 1947. Formerly a CD-ROM product, this remarkable resource is now freely available on the Internet.
- The United Nations Today, is a a print publication which supersedes the former basic sourcebook on the U.N titled Basic Facts about the United Nations.

Thanks to Sales Officer Andréa Gonçalves of the U.N. Department of Public Information for providing information for this report.

- United Nations Division for the Advancement of Women - DAW
- United Nations International Research and Training Institute for the Advancement of Women - INSTRAW

The various agencies which work to advance care and concerns for women in the United Nations make good use of their Internet sites to provide updates, other information, and links to full-text pdf publications. They make excellent use of the web, and should be explored for women’s issues from an international perspective.

World Bank - IBRD

World Bank representatives will be present to report on new programs and initiatives at the IDTF meeting at ALA Midwinter Meeting in Denver, where the World Bank has Exhibits Booth 2439/.

I. PRINT RESOURCES

Titles and Editions Newly Available Include the Following:

- Bioenergy Development: Issues and Impacts for Poverty and Natural Resource Management
- Cost of Pollution in China: Estimates of Economic and Physical Damage
- Development Economics through the Decades: A Critical Look at Thirty Years of the World Development Report
- Global Monitoring Report 2009: Crisis, MDGs, and the Private Sector

e-Library Print Archive

Libraries subscribing to the World Bank e-Library have the option of adding the e-Library Print Archive to their subscription. This print option costs $2500 per year, including shipping and handling, and represents an estimated 65-70% discount off of list price. This plan allows libraries to offer both print and electronic copies of World Bank titles and to maintain both their print and electronic collections at an affordable price. As a single-invoice subscription, it also allows libraries to budget more effectively and to reduce the time and costs associated with multiple invoices and blanket standing orders. Subscribing institutions will receive one copy of each of the 150-200 books published by the World Bank during the subscription year.

Blanket Standing Order Program

The World Bank offers a flat 20% on all purchases for subscribers to the WBP blanket standing order program. The 20% discount applies to all print purchases, not just to standing order releases. Individual standing orders are also available for all annual and series titles.

II. ONLINE RESOURCES

• Africa Development Indicators Online (ADI Online) is a principle data source on the African economy and an important reference tool for those who want a better understanding of the social and economic developments occurring in Africa. Contains data for over 1,400 statistical indicators, and time series from 1965 to the present for 53 countries. Data include social, economic, financial, natural resources, infrastructure, governance, partnership, and environmental indicators. As the database uses the same platform as WDI and GDF Online, it looks and works exactly the same way and is thus easy to use for those who know WDI and/or GDF Online. For more, go to http://publications.worldbank.org/ADI

• Global Development Finance Online (GDF Online) provides direct access to more than 200 debt and financial flows indicators for the 129 countries that report public and publicly-guaranteed debt to the World Bank Debtor Reporting System. These data run from 1970 to 2016, where available. For more, go to http://publications.worldbank.org/GDF/

• Global Economic Monitor (GEM) is a one-stop portal for analysis of current economic trends, and economic and financial indicators. It features up-to-date analysis on global economic conditions, including a daily brief and event-driven focus reports, direct access to high-frequency datasets via Quick Query, forecasts for commodity prices and main macroeconomic indicators for over 150 countries. For more, go to http://www.worldbank.org/gem

• The World Bank e-Library New design, New platform, New features. The World Bank e-Library is an electronic portal to the World Bank's full-text collection of books, journals and other documents on social and economic development. A comprehensive resource including some 5,500 titles published by the World Bank, as well as every new title as it becomes available in print. About 150-200 books are published every year. Complimentary MARC records are available. For more, go to www.worldbank.org/newelibrary, feedback is very welcome.

• World Development Indicators Online (WDI Online) is a comprehensive and essential data source on the global economy. It contains statistical data for over 850 indicators and time series from 1960, covering 209 countries and 18 regional country groups. Results can be indexed, viewed as graphs or maps, as well as exported in standard formats like Excel. It is updated periodically, with the annual data loaded in May. World Tourism Organization

The World Tourism Day is commemorated on September 27 of each year, and for 2009 the WTO is “celebrating tourism diversity,” though as of this writing, the World Tourism Day site continues to display information from 2008. Here the WTO promoted the 7th UN Millennium Development Goal (to ensure environmental sustainability) by focusing on the theme of climate change and tourism. Climate Change and Tourism: Responding to Global Challenges was one of its more recent publications. The Organization also formed a ST-EP Programme and has published four items since 2002 oriented toward its additional theme of Sustainable Tourism—Eliminating Poverty. These publications are listed on the Organization’s site at www.unwto.org. Also in 2009, WTO will be focusing on providing the tourism sector with the necessary tools to help overcome the current economic situation. The latest Tourism Barometer is due out January 27.

WTO’s publications program has not changed significantly in the last year or so. Two major sections exist, i.e. the UNWTO Infoshop leads the user to its printed versions of publications by language, region, or date; and to the UNWTO Online Library for those interested in subscribing. The Online Library (e-unwto), with academic pricing based on an FTE basis, contains more than 900 books in English, French, Spanish, Russian or Arabic. The e-unwto also provides access to a growing number of documents which can be defined as “Gray Literature” and subscription to it appears to be the only way to obtain access to the World Tourism Factbook, which gives up-to-date statistics on inbound and outbound tourism to more than 200 countries and territories.

WTO’s front page continues to lead to excerpts of basic facts and figures, to an excerpt from the latest World Tourism Barometer, to the most recent issue of UNWTO News, to a calendar of international tourism events, and to information on courses, research and scholarship about the organization. The WTO Documentation Centre utilizes a Multilingual Thesaurus on Tourism and Leisure Activities, and also offers LEXITOUR, a tourism legislation database that provides bibliographic and textual data on laws and regulations. Searching in LEXITOUR can lead to some interesting free-access sites for various areas of the world.
