NEWS FROM OIF

Patrice McDermott is the new Assistant Director, Office for Intellectual Freedom, starting November 3, 1986. She is also the liaison to the IFRT. Ms. McDermott is a 1972 Phi Beta Kappa from Florida State University, earned her M.A. from Brown in 1974, and a Ph.D. in Political Science from the University of Arizona in 1982 before receiving her MLS from Emory in 1986. She has worked with issues surrounding intellectual freedom in her academic and her professional career and will be attending IFRT Executive Board Meetings in Chicago, where all can become acquainted.

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIR OF IFRT

Greetings from Cedar Falls! I was dying to tell you all at the summer conference, but the job offer wasn't official until July 17. Anyway, this is a great professional and personal opportunity to be Director of Library Services at the University of Northern Iowa. I've been spending lots of time getting to know my "environment", which, of course, includes state IF activities. Thus my first day on the job I accepted the invitation to serve on the ILA Intellectual Freedom Committee. This group held its annual planning conference in November.

1986 programs included two very successful IF workshops by Dennis Day.

We are making progress on the San Francisco program on AIDS and the public's "right to know." The response to my call for ideas has been incredibly gratifying. Thank you, one and all, for your support of this program. We should have the final program in place by Midwinter. It will include speakers to address the information needs of children and young adults.

My last report from Larry Miller showed an overwhelming demand for our bookmarks. Irene Stoller sent in the requested by-laws revisions, and Judy Krug reported that, as of 8/31/86, we have 1,312 members, only 20 behind GODORT! You've all been working hard and I really appreciate it.

I will send out the Executive Board Agenda in early December.

MESSAGE FROM THE (AILING) CHAIR-ELECT

Dorothy Broderick has been in the hospital dealing with a bout of pneumonia. Mary K. Chelton reports that she has been supplying the necessary reinforcements for the battle--asparagus soup and Baskin-Robbins chocolate almond ice cream. With that kind of support, we fully expect immediate and total recovery. Mary K. also notes that despite this and other distractions, Dorothy has begun planning the major intellectual freedom program of the New Orleans (1988) Annual Conference. One promising theme is the First Amendment rights of employees, an important and neglected issue, but at this stage she is very open to other suggestions and refinements. She is not open, we are told, to the idea of another panel discussion, preferring to center the program on one major speaker. She invites comment and offers of help. Mail to Dorothy Broderick, Managing Editor, Voice of Youth Advocates, 3936 West Colonial Parkway, Virginia Beach, Virginia 23452. Phone (804) 498-3693. (We believe she will not be needing get-well wishes by the time this reaches you).

IFRT AWARDS: NOMINATIONS NEEDED!

As you know, our awards committees work very hard to discover and recognize the most worthy candidates, and we have an excellent track record of honoring the most effective champions of intellectual freedom while, at the same time, bringing ever-needed good publicity to our cause. As always, these committees need your nominations.

IMMROTH MEMORIAL AWARD: To an individual who has demonstrated extraordinary effectiveness and devotion to the cause in a particular crisis or throughout a career. Chair: Bill Davis, State Library of Iowa, Historical Building, Des Moines, IA 50319. (515) 281-4400.

SIRS STATE INTELLECTUAL FREEDOM COMMITTEE PROGRAMMING AWARD: To the state IFC that has presented particularly effective educational programs or campaigns to confront particular situations, especially using ideas that may be useful to other organizations. Remember, it is in the nature of this award that no one is likely to nominate your committee except you yourself. Don't be modest! Chair: Doug Archer, Reference Department, Memorial Library, University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, IN 46556. (219) 831-6258.

ELI M. OBOLER MEMORIAL AWARD: To the author(s) of a written work (article, editorial, series of pieces, book) published during the two years previous to the presentation of the award which is judged to be the best work about intellectual freedom and relevant to (not necessarily about) librarianship. The next award will be given in New Orleans in 1988, but material published in 1986 and 1987 is eligible, so send copies (3, if possible) or nominations as soon as you spot them. Chair: Joe Harzbecker, 96 Church Street, West Roxbury, Mass 02132. (617) 323 1372.

The school library media program plays a unique role in promoting intellectual freedom. It serves as a point of voluntary access to information and ideas and a learning laboratory for students as they acquire critical thinking and problem solving skills needed in a pluralistic society. Although the educational level and program of the school necessarily shape the resources and services of a school library media program, the principles of the LIBRARY BILL OF RIGHTS apply equally to all libraries, including school library media programs.

School library media professionals assume a leadership role in promoting the principles of intellectual freedom within the school by providing resources and services that create and sustain an atmosphere of free inquiry. Through resources, programming, and educational processes, students and teachers experience the free and robust debate characteristic of a democratic society.

...Students and educators served by the school library media program have access to resources and services free of constraints resulting from personal, partisan, or doctrinal disapproval. School library media professionals resist efforts by individuals to define what is appropriate for all students or teachers to read, view, or hear.

Major barriers between students and resources include: imposing age or grade level restrictions on the use of resources, limiting the use of interlibrary loan and access to electronic information, charging fees for information in specific formats, requiring permissions from parents or teachers, establishing restricted shelves or closed collections, and labeling. Policies, procedures and rules related to the use of resources and services support free and open access to information.

The school board adopts policies that guarantee student access to a broad range of ideas... Such policies, developed by persons in the school community, provide for a timely and fair hearing and assure that procedures are applied equitably to all expressions of concern. School library media professionals implement district policies and procedures in the school.

Excerpt from an editorial in the Hammond (Indiana) Times, 11 Nov. 1986.

The Hammond Library Board deserves to be commended for its decision to allow parents and children access to all kinds of information. At issue before the board has been a publication called "A Kid's First Book About Sex." ... The library board wisely decided to continue its policy of making sensitive instructional material available to all readers, and has urged parents to share their children's library experiences to make sure the kids understand what they read and see.

...A library is a place for learning and exploration--two things that parents and child can undertake successfully together. It is not meant to be a babysitting service at which parents can safely drop the kids off for a few hours...

Book banning is a dangerous, ill-advised idea that, in the end, promotes ignorance and encourages more censorship.

It was tough for the Hammond Library Board members to stand up to the emotional arguments put forth by critics of "A Kid's First Book About Sex."

We thank them.

HOW NICE! A CHRISTMAS CARRELL!
