INTRODUCTION
The International Relations Round Table (IRRT), a membership unit within the American Library Association (ALA), was established by the ALA Council in 1949 as the Round Table on Library Service Abroad.

The mission of the International Relations Round Table (IRRT) is to develop the interests of librarians in activities and problems in the field of international library relations. Members of the IRRT serve as a channel of communication and counsel between the International Relations Committee and the members of the American Library Association, and they provide hospitality and information to visitors from abroad. The IRRT arranges programs and business meetings and appoints representatives to attend meetings of the other professional groups.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS ROUND TABLE, A HISTORY

The International Relations Round Table (IRRT), a membership unit within the American Library Association (ALA), was established by the ALA Council in 1949 as the Round Table on Library Service Abroad. The original purpose of the organization was stated in the following terms:

In the belief that participation by librarians in library programs abroad will contribute to an improvement in the library profession and in library services both here and abroad (as well as to international understanding), the ALA Round Table on Library Service Abroad is created to provide a means whereby the general membership of the American Library Association may inform itself regarding the international aspects of library work and may be given opportunities to participate in activities for the improvement of international relations and/or library services throughout the world. (1)

In 1956, the name was changed to International Relations Round Table in recognition of "the wider aspects of international library work" (2). The purpose has since been restated as follows:

To develop the interests of librarians in activities and problems in the field of international library relations; to serve as a channel of communication and counsel between the International Relations Committee and the members of the Association; and to provide hospitality and information to visitors from abroad. The IRRT arranges programs and business meetings and appoints representatives to attend meetings of the other professional groups (3).

The IRRT is the only membership organization of ALA that is devoted solely to international library interests. IRRT’s members include librarians who have served abroad in United States government and military libraries, and many who are interested in or plan to take overseas library positions, and those interested in international librarianship. Some ALA divisions have international relations committees. The work of the IRRT is carried out by the Executive Board, which consists of the officers.

Throughout its existence, the IRRT has been closely associated with the International Relations Committee (IRC) of ALA both directly and indirectly. The IRRT chair attends meetings of the IRC as an observer; the chair of IRC attends IRRT Executive Board meetings as a non-voting member.

The IRRT sponsors a variety of program meetings on aspects of international library work. In addition to programs, the organization holds an annual reception, and maintains an International Visitors Center at the ALA Annual Meeting. Provides list of furniture, equipment including a computer, supplies, decorations, e.g., flags, and other appropriate items for the international visitors’ centers.
• Maintains and updates the International Visitors Center volunteer manual, so that members can successfully staff it and be prepared to welcome and greet international attendees.
• Issues the call for volunteers who may be solicited through International Leads, the IRRT website, ALAWorld, other ALA and international listservs.
• Schedules volunteer staffing of the center at the ALA annual conference.

The IRRT-published Foreign Service Directory of IRRT American Librarians was discontinued in 1983. Since 1957 the IRRT has issued a newsletter, approximately 5x/yr or quarterly, to inform the membership about news on the international library scene. Initially entitled LEADS: A Fact Sheet, the title was formally changed in January 1987 to International Leads.

- Chair’s Program Chair writes thank-you letters to speakers

IRRT Program Generation

Programs are generated from ideas of the Chair-elect, Chair, chair’s program chair, Committee members, various committees, and from aspects of librarianship that have an international component. Programs that describe opportunities to work abroad and ways to receive funding to work abroad are popular as are programs that describe international work experience. Ideas can come from anywhere and anyone. Members of IRRT, ALA, or international librarians should submit ideas to the Chair-elect for consideration immediately after elections to be sure they are considered. Planning for programs begins nearly two years in advance so it is important to submit ideas early.

Member responsibilities

• Review and evaluate all poster session submissions.
• Publicize international poster sessions to ALA membership, IRRT membership, and through International Leads and the IRRT website as well as any other avenues of publicity.
• Assist in setting up and breaking down of international poster session.

Processes that are used

Summary

• The international poster sessions are one of four slots for poster session at ALA.
• The international poster sessions which are accepted must either:
  • Be from librarians or library staff working in countries other than the United States but the poster session itself does not necessarily have to have an international theme
  • Be from librarians or library staff here in the United States but the poster session must have an international focus or theme

In order to coordinate the international poster sessions effectively, it is crucial that the chair of the IRRT Poster Sessions committee be in close touch with the chair of the ALA Poster Session Review Panel as well as the ALA International Relations Office.

There are no less than 20 and no more than 25 slots available for the international poster session. It is common for there to be “no-shows” at the international session because of travel costs or other unexpected obstacles.

Processes

• The ALA Poster Session Committee publishes the call for the submission of posters and gives the deadline for submission. This will be in the early fall and the deadline is usually in February.
• The IRRT Poster Session Chair updates the wording to apply to the International Poster Session and submits to the IRO program officer to be added to the website.
• The chair for the IRRT Committee contacts the person at the ALA International Relations Office who is responsible for posting the call for poster sessions to the IRRT website as well as the editor for International Leads.
• Poster session proposals are submitted through a web-based form that is operated and maintained by the chair for the ALA Poster Session Review Panel. In the event that a poster session proposal is sent via email either to the ALA International Relations Office or to someone on the IRRT poster session Committee, the chair of the Committee is responsible for entering the proposal into the web form.

- Poster sessions are evaluated with the common criteria used for all ALA poster sessions with the exception of proper English grammar and if an American submission does not meet the theme.
- All IRRT Poster Session Committee members have an opportunity to rank and comment on the submissions. The chair of the Committee is then responsible for compiling their comments and averaging their rankings to enter the final ranking on the web form.
- The chair for the ALA Poster Session Review Panel is responsible for sending out acceptance and rejection letters to the international poster session submitters, and letting the IRRT poster session Committee chair know that the letters have been sent. The IRRT Committee chair notifies the contact person at the ALA International Relations Office of the sessions which have been accepted.
- All IRRT Poster Session Committee members participate in helping the international presenters put up and take down their posters on the day of the international sessions.
- All IRRT Poster Session Committee members have an opportunity to suggest alternative procedures and provide input into evaluating the success of the poster sessions.
- At each annual ALA, the IRRT Poster Session Committee Chair meets with the chair of the ALA Poster Session Review Panel to discuss any changes or improvements that need to be made in terms of processes and communication.

General Eligibility Guidelines

The following criteria will be used to determine general eligibility for applications:

3. Projects that fall within the category of professional development for staff and librarians are not eligible. Beneficiaries of the projects must be library patrons only.

Criteria for selecting recipients

1. Nomination needs to be for a group library project. The project nominated should be original to that library and greatly improves its library services and patrons’ access to information.

The recipient may not be affiliated with any U.S. institution/agency and may not have received any U.S. funds directly or indirectly.

• Chair should attend the IRRT Committee Chairs orientation usually held on Saturday morning.
• Meet with committee at pre-established time if others are present.

February-June:

International Leads

International Leads (IL) is the official publication of the International Relations Round Table (IRRT). The purpose of IL is to disseminate information about international librarianship and the activities of the Round Table.

IL seeks to support Round Table and Association objectives by bringing members news, brief articles and reviews that help them understand and react appropriately to recent developments in international librarianship. It seeks items of timely value and emphasizes current reports and programs undertaken by the Association and the IRRT. A secondary concern is reporting on newsworthy items generated by other divisions, units and round tables of ALA that are relevant to the interests of IRRT and its members. A third level of concern reports other international activities outside the various ALA units that are relevant to IRRT and its members. IL accepts relevant general news releases intended for mass publication vehicles.

IL is published quarterly, edited by a volunteer editor, published digitally, and posted on the IRRT website.

Editor of International Leads

Term of Office
The editor is appointed for a two-year, once-renewable term by the IRRT Executive Board upon recommendation of a search committee consisting of Publications Committee members. The Publication Committee recommends and supports the sharing of the role of Editor by two individuals, acting as Co-Editors.
There is no monetary remuneration.

The editor determines size, layout, typography, and other aspects of format. IL is distributed to current members of IRRT via email and is posted on the IRRT website. Back issues are archived on the IRRT website.

The IRRT Executive Board and its Publications Committee affirm their roles of non-interference with editorial decision, in accordance with the spirit of encouraging units to "endorse and apply the principle of freedom of the press" articulated in ALA Policy Manual section 10.1.

Editor responsibilities include:

- Final responsibility for the content of IL within the parameters of ALA and International Relations Round Table policies. Because IL is the official organ of the IRRT, the editor has a particular responsibility, in cooperation with Round Table officers, the IRRT Publications committee and ALA International Relations Office staff, to convey to the members and other readers full and accurate information on the activities, purpose, and goals of the Round Table. The editor assumes an obligation to represent the best interests of the Round Table fairly and as fully as possible within the scope of the publication and with due regard to the prerogative of the editor for producing a balanced and readable publication.

- Assume final authority for all content of each issue of IL.

- May assign areas of editorial responsibility to others, i.e., appoint regular column editors and special guest editors, and oversee their work. The editor may also seek authors to cover current issues, events, and people, etc., as well as assigning readers for submissions.

- Maintain communication with the IRRT Executive Board and its various committees to obtain information of interest to the membership and others interested in IRRT activities.

- Use and maintain the general IL email account for correspondence about submissions and other IL work, including regular checking of the account and timely response to queries.

- As space and resources permit, seek manuscripts from IRRT members and encourage the submission of high-quality articles.

• Attend IRRT Publications Committee and IRRT Executive Board meetings at ALA Annual and Midwinter meeting.

Qualifications:

• Excellent verbal and written communication skills.

• Experience in publishing and/or journalism, either in editing or writing, sufficient to enable the individual to produce a high-quality publication that addresses interests of the readership.

• Experience in or demonstrated knowledge of international librarianship.

• Membership in the International Relations Round Table.

Procedures of *International Leads

Instructions for authors:

International Leads (IL) welcomes articles that reflect the editorial focus of the publication: news about international library activities, the international work of ALA and other organizations, and people and publications in the library field. IL also welcomes letters to the editor. Articles are also welcomed on activities within the IRRT, and other organizations, news and features on international library activities, and coverage of relevant people and publications in the library field.

Queries are encouraged and may be sent to the editor at any time to be considered for the development for subsequent issues of International Leads. Queries may be sent to the general IL email account: ala.intl.leads@gmail.com.

To establish a safe and open environment crucial for vibrant and productive discussion, it is the responsibility of all listserv subscribers to adhere to the following guidelines and etiquette:

INTEREST GROUPS

Forming an Interest Group

IRRT provides an environment, which is supportive of the international interests and activities of ALA membership and is the only membership organization of ALA that is devoted solely to international library interests. IRRT supports the formation of interest groups subject to approval by the IRRT Executive Committee in order to provide a mechanism for individuals sharing common international interests to exchange ideas and experiences, sponsor conference programs, and/or prepare publications. These groups will have a focus that fits the mission of IRRT and are groups not more appropriately affiliated with other ALA divisions or round tables.

To form an Interest Group, a written petition to establish must be submitted to the IRRT Executive Committee Chair (Interest Group Petition/Renewal Form). The petition shall include:

- the title of the group,
- a role, purpose, and function statement,
- the signatures of one IRRT member in good standing appointed as chair by the IRRT Executive Committee Chair, and
- the signatures of eight or more members of IRRT or of the American Library Association, who will be members of the approved group.

The group will exist as a subgroup of IRRT, upon approval of the IRRT Executive Committee.

The following tasks should be accomplished at an organizational meeting:

- Select a name which reflects the interest of the group.
- Complete an Interest Group Petition/Renewal Form and forward to the IRRT Executive Committee Chair.
- Circulate a Membership List/Meeting Sign-up Sheet and forward with the completed Interest Group Petition/Renewal Form.

Membership

All members of IRRT are eligible for membership in an Interest Group. Anyone interested may join by sending a written message to the Interest Group Chair or a designee, or by attending a meeting of the Interest Group and signing the membership list. Members of ALA who are not members of IRRT may also join an Interest Group, but must join IRRT within six months after affiliation with the Interest Group. Failure to join IRRT within six months will nullify membership in the Group.

Chair

Term of Office

Appointed for two years by the IRRT Executive Committee Chair with the option of one two-year renewal as specified in IRRT Article VIII, Section (1) of the Bylaws. A co-chair may be appointed.
• Duties of the Chair
  Coordinates activities of the Interest Group, presides at meetings held at ALA midwinter and annual conferences.
• Coordinates programs with the IRRT Program committee, coordinates any publications with the IRRT Publications committee, works with ALA International Relations Office staff liaison regarding meeting room arrangements at the ALA Annual Conference for any programs and with ALA Conference Services as appropriate.
• Provides copy to the editor of International Leads, works with the IRRT website editor to publish Internet Group activities on the IRRT website.
• Reports Interest Group activities to the IRRT Executive Committee.

Meetings
Interest Groups are expected to meet at each ALA Midwinter and Annual Conference. Meetings shall occur during the timeslot and location assigned to all IRC and IRRT committees and interest groups and should include a business meeting at which any necessary business is completed.

Formal programs are conducted only at the Annual Conference. The International Program coordination form must be submitted to the IRRT Program committee. All time and room schedules for programs held at the Annual Conference are requested through the International Relations Office on forms supplied by that office to the Interest Group chair. Timely responses and a realistic estimate of the number of participants will help ensure that adequate space is available for the meetings.

A Membership List/Meeting Sign-up Sheet should be circulated at each meeting of the Group for all attendees to sign. The list is then forwarded to the IRO Office.

The Interest Group chair completes a Meeting Report for Committee and Interest Groups Form at the close of each Group meeting and presents it to the IRRT Executive Committee at its regular meeting with a copy to the IRRT Secretary/Treasurer and the IRO Office as soon as possible.

Activities
Interest Groups may sponsor programs at the ALA Annual Conference, prepare publications, or carry out other activities with the approval of the IRRT Executive Committee and in coordination with other appropriate IRRT committees such as Program and Publications.

Renewal or Demise
Interest Groups may be authorized or discontinued by the IRRT Executive Committee. All Interest Groups should review their charge every two years as needed and make recommendations for changes to the IRRT Executive Committee for approval and subsequent inclusion in the IRRT Procedures Manual. Before submitting a renewal petition, an Interest Group should reconsider both its name and function statement to be sure that they reflect the Group's current composition and interests. If an Interest Group's petition is not resubmitted, the IRRT Executive Committee can recommend that the Interest Group be dissolved.
IRRT LIAISONS WITH OTHER GROUPS

The International Relations Round Table (IRRT) seeks to collaborate with other divisions and round tables within ALA in order to support the international activities of the Association within the global community.

Definition

A liaison between IRRT and another group may be appointed to communicate IRRT interests held in common with the other group, and to advise IRRT regarding activities of the other group that might have implications for IRRT programs, publications or organization. It is presumed that the resulting relationship will be beneficial to IRRT and the target group by allowing the two groups:

- to share information and ideas of mutual benefit;
- to avoid duplicate programming activities;
- to share, if appropriate, programming and publication efforts in areas of mutual interest through co-sponsorship;

Categories of Liaison

Liaisons fall into three categories:

- Designated Liaison. In this category, IRRT feels a need to establish a liaison with another group. Although the interests of both groups are met, the principle beneficiary of the designated liaison is IRRT.

- Requested Liaison. IRRT is approached by another group requesting an IRRT liaison. If approved, the IRRT agrees to appoint the Requested Liaison. The interests of both groups are served, but the principal beneficiary of the Requested Liaison is the requesting group.

- Representative. In the final category, IRRT is asked by ALA to send a liaison to a group. The liaisons are obligatory, but the value of the representative is assumed to be shared equally by both groups.

Appropriateness of IRRT Liaisons

It is appropriate for IRRT to establish a liaison or designate a representative:

- if the other organization addresses issues and concerns relevant to IRRT;
- if the representation will help to avoid duplication of effort;
- if the representation will enhance IRRT's position and serve as an advocate for IRRT policies; or
- if the representation will promote shared programming and publication efforts in areas of mutual interest.

It is appropriate for IRRT to designate a liaison or representative to another organization whenever such representation seems appropriate. The IRRT Board will examine the need for continued representation in light of the interests of the IRRT membership and the nature of the work of the other organization. A formal review will be conducted on at least a triennial basis with a written report to the Board at the Midwinter meeting, including any changes or proposed additions to the liaisons list.
Term of Appointment

Liaisons shall be appointed for a term of two years. Re-appointment may occur, but the liaison shall not serve more than four years consecutively. Selection and Appointment of Designated Liaisons Liaison appointments are made by the IRRT Chair. The member selected must fill all requirements for nomination or appointment to committees stated in the IRRT Officers Manual.

An attempt should be made to identify and select an IRRT member to serve in a liaison/representative capacity who has an established interest in the group or organization. For example, IRRT liaisons with divisional IRCs will be members of the division and IRRT.

When IRRT establishes a new liaison with another group, the IRRT Chair will announce the appointment in a written communication to that group which includes the following:

- asks the group to accept the IRRT liaison;
- states IRRT’s purpose in establishing the liaison;
- requests that the group include the liaison in the distribution of agenda and minutes;
- informs the group that the liaison will observe and submit a report the IRRT Board;
- clarifies that, while the IRRT liaison may be authorized to speak for the IRRT Board, the liaison will not routinely report to the group on IRRT activities, policies or procedures.

Role of the Liaison/Representative

IRRT liaisons that represent IRRT on ALA standing committees will be the chairs of the parallel IRRT committee such as Posters, Education, etc.

1) Attend meetings of the appropriate governing group (Committee meetings, Association Board meetings, etc.); If the liaison cannot attend the meeting, he/she/they are responsible for finding an alternate to attend and report.
2) Obtain agendas and minutes of meetings.
3) Identify opportunities for cooperation including joint programs and ways to serve ALA’s international members.
4) As appropriate, share information about the IRRT with the ALA standing committee.
5) Submit a written report about any information pertinent to the work of the IRRT to the IRRT Board within two weeks of the conference to be included in the meeting minutes.
6) If particularly important issues have been discussed, an oral report to the IRRT Board may be appropriate during the Sunday morning IRRT Board meeting at the ALA Midwinter or Annual Meeting.
7) If the liaison/representative cannot attend the meeting, he/she/they are responsible for finding an alternate to attend and report. The alternate should submit the report through the designated liaison.
