Greetings From the President:

First of all, I’d like to thank all of the FAFLRT officers, committee chairs, and liaisons—past and present—for your contributions to the Round Table. Some of you have served for many years to keep the organization a vital force in the professional lives of federal and armed forces librarians. You have presented fine programs, awarded excellence in the profession, and provided venues to meet to discuss problems and offer solutions.

In addition, you have provided opportunities for Round Table members to get to know each other and develop new friendships. This has taken energy and time and we are grateful for your commitment.

FAFLRT endeavors will continue at Midwinter in Seattle in January. Board meetings are scheduled for Sunday, Jan. 21, 10:30 am – 12:30 pm and (if needed) Monday, Jan. 22, 8 am – 10 am. Preparations for the annual conference in Washington will be a big part of the agenda. You need not be a Board member to attend the meetings. If you’re interested in becoming more active in FAFLRT, or if you want to see what we are all about, or if you just want to bring your cappuccino in out of the rain, you’re welcome to join us.

GPO Names Michigan Library Among Best in the Nation

The U.S. Government Printing Office has selected Michigan’s Benton Harbor Library as the 2006 Federal Depository Library of the Year. Public Printer Bruce James presented the award to library officials Sunday at the annual Federal Depository Libraries fall conference. In presenting the award, James commended the library for providing the residents of its community with online access to authentic published Government information.

“I am honored to present this award to the Benton Harbor Public Library. Our partnership with the Federal Depository Library is an example of how GPO and local libraries can help communities across the country access authentic published Government information,” said James. “I am especially glad to see the library using the far-reaching benefits of the Web to post Federal Government documents that residents can download electronically.”

Benton Harbor Public Library is in an economically challenged area and used limited funds to ensure Federal Government resources are used to their full potential. Michigan’s United States Senators are proud of what a library in their home state was able to accomplish.

“I commend the Benton Harbor Public Library staff not only for its commitment to providing citizens with access to a wide range of Government resources, but also for presenting these resources in a manner that so directly meets the needs of the community,” said U.S. Senator Carl Levin.

“Great things are happening because of great people in Benton Harbor. I’m so proud to represent them,” said U.S. Senator Debbie Stabenow. “This award is very special and very well deserved. I want to congratulate Fred Kirby, our great director of the library, and his staff.”
“French semiologist Jean Baudrillard said
“like dreams, statistics are a form of wish fulfillment.”
Anyone who enjoys statistics will have their dreams fulfilled by using or browsing through Historical Statistics of the United States, which is highly recommended...
—BOOKLIST (STARRED REVIEW)

“A stunning achievement... Historical Statistics of the United States: Millennial Edition is a resource that academic libraries and larger libraries can ill afford to be without...It will serve as the standard for years to come.”
—AGAINST THE GRAIN, JUNE 2006

“Thanks to logical organization, detailed indexing, comprehensive tables, and a very helpful narrative text, Historical Statistics is a gateway to fascinating factual information about American history and society... Historical Statistics is a fundamental reference source.”

DTIC to Host 33rd Annual Conference

“Defense Information for All,” is the theme for DTIC’s 33rd Annual Conference, which will take place March 26-28, 2007 at the Hilton Alexandria Old Town, Alexandria, Virginia.

The conference will address DTIC’s role as the Department of Defense (DoD) technical information broker. Those expected to attend the meeting include information professionals from the science, technology, research and development, and acquisition communities who create, disseminate and use DoD scientific, research, and engineering information. Speakers from government, private industry and DTIC will address evolving information technologies.

Maximizing research productivity, preventing unnecessary or redundant research, and networking among peers are just some of the conference objectives. The first two days of the meeting will feature a number of government and commercial exhibitors demonstrating and discussing the latest information services and technology.

For more information contact DTIC’s conference coordinator at: 703-767-8236/DSN 427-8236, confinfo@dtic.mil

New Committee on the Status of Federal Libraries Meets

The newly constituted Committee on Legislation’s Subcommittee on the Status of Federal Libraries met in late October in Washington, DC. Members of the subcommittee chaired by Jane Sess, included current and included several FAFLRT members as well as representatives from GODORT and other ALA divisions. The subcommittee will draft a plan of action for dealing with the many threats facing federal libraries and will report to ALA Council in Seattle in January. ALA has established a discussion list for the members. From time to time we will be posting to the FAFLRT list, so stay tuned.

Much of the initial focus of the subcommittee has been on the pressing situation of the closing and downsizing of many of the EPA regional libraries. There has been much attention paid to the sad state of the EPA library system in the press and Congress has begun to weigh in. Recently, four members of Congress sent a letter to the EPA administrator expressing their concern. The letter appears elsewhere in this issue. In Seattle, the subcommittee will meet Sunday morning at 10:30. Check the schedule for the location.

Nominations for 2007 FAFLRT Awards

Who should FAFLRT recognize for outstanding achievement in the promotion of library and information service and the information profession in the Federal community? Nominations are now open for the FAFLRT Achievement Award. The person selected for the FAFLRT Achievement Award will be honored at the ALA annual conference at the FAFLRT membership meeting. Honorees have included James King, Pam Andre, and Jeanne Hurley Simon.

Nominations are also open for the Distinguished Service Award. The nominee must be a FAFLRT member who has provided significant contributions to FAFLRT over a number of years. Honorees have included Jewel Player, James King, and Andrea Gruhl.

For either award, use the nomination form on our website and submit it by March 1, 2007. http://archive.ala.org/alaorg/rtables/faflrt/awards.html. For questions, contact Awards Committee Co-chairs Shirley Loo (sloo@crs.loc.gov) or Maria Pisa (mpisa@usda.nal.gov)

If you know a library school student who is interested in Federal librarianship, encourage the student to apply for the Adelaide del Frate Conference Sponsorship Award. Pertinent information is on our website and the deadline is also March 1, 2007.

Reorganizations, realignments, and system changes are ongoing challenges for the Air Force Library Program! The Presidents Budget Decision (PBD) 720, BRAC Joint Basing initiatives, NSPS, and many other reorganizations will impact Air Force library services. Funding has been realigned to meet the Air Force’s major goals which include modernization of aircraft, meeting the requirements of the Government War on Terror (GWOT), and providing quality of life support for Airmen and their families. To accommodate these funding requirements, Air Force plans to reduce personnel (primarily military) as well as many base operating support contracts. This has significantly impacted contract and non-appropriated fund libraries; many have reduced the number of staff, materials budgets, and hours of operation.

The Elmendorf Base Library was recently approved for closure as part of the Joint Basing initiative (Joint Base Elmendorf-Richardson). The Ft. Richardson Library is a new facility collocated with education and will provide responsive service to Air Force personnel and their families. One small special library, the Air Force Logistics Management Agency Library at Gunter Annex, Maxwell AFB Alabama, was also identified for closure by Dec 06.

Despite these challenges, Air Force libraries continued to offer many programs and services to their military communities. Libraries have conducted special programs for families of deployed troops, such as “Operation Kudo” – setting up a mock tent-city for families to get the feel of a contingency environment. To support the Air Force Chief of Staff initiatives to expand language abilities and cultural awareness for Airmen, several major commands and libraries purchased Rosetta Stone, a web-based language tutorial database. Offutt AFB library provided support to the new Language Learning Center (LLC), a centralized training area for language classes and the multimedia resources necessary to maintain their skill level. The LLC brings all that and more to help Airmen maintain and enhance their skills. Many Air Force libraries have updated technologies to include wireless Internet — just click ‘n go for customers. (see photos)

The Air Force library program continues to provide paperback and periodical kits for over 250 remote sites and contingency operations. The Library Service Center (LSC) at Ramstein AB Germany also supports short-term contingency operations for Operations Iraqi Freedom and Enduring Freedom, as well as 9 branch libraries at Air Force sites in Europe located at a distance from any other library support. The library at Langley AFB Virginia procures online resources and other materials for Learning Resource Centers in Southwest Asia. Providing support to troops at the various contingency locations continues to be the top priority of the Air Force library program.
