
Compiled by Matthew Tarczy, with contributions by Elizabeth Carter (Graduate Assistant)
University of South Florida School of Library & Information Science

ENTREPRENEURSHIP

WEBSITES

Collegiate Entrepreneurs’ Association
http://www.c-e-o.org/
The Collegiate Entrepreneurs’ Organization is a global entrepreneurship network serving more than 500 colleges and universities.

EntrepreneurshipWeek USA
http://www.entrepreneurshipweekusa.com/
“Entrepreneurs, educators, community leaders and young people across the US …celebrate the power of entrepreneurship and ignite the nation’s consciousness about the importance of being entrepreneurial. EntrepreneurshipWeek USA offers a tremendous opportunity to engage and encourage the next generation of entrepreneurs. The initiative enhances on-going interest and provides an educational kick-start for the uninitiated, serving as an inspiration for young people to begin a journey to fulfill their potential as self-starters and entrepreneurs.” (from http://www.entrepreneurshipweekusa.com)

Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation
Learn more about children and youth entrepreneurship and related programs and resources at http://www.kauffman.org/entrepreneurship.cfm?topic=youth. To find out about resources and opportunities for collegiate level entrepreneurs visit http://www.kauffman.org/entrepreneurship.cfm?topic=college_entrepreneurship.

Future Business Leaders of America
http://www.fbla-pbl.org
Future Business Leaders of America—Phi Beta Lambda is a nonprofit 501(c) (3) educational association of students preparing for careers in business and business-related fields. The association has four divisions: FBLA for high school students; FBLA Middle Level for junior high, middle and intermediate school students; PBL for post-secondary students; and the Professional Alumni Division for business people, educators and parents who support the goals of the association.

Gen-X Idea Café
http://www.businessownersideacafe.com/genx
On this site, Idea Café caters to the business needs of Generation-X entrepreneurs with information, advice and fun to feed your mind and your business. The site welcomes biz fans of every age and includes stories of Gen-
X business successes.

Junior Achievement
http://www.ja.org
Junior Achievement uses hands-on experiences to help young people understand the economics of life. In partnership with business and educators, Junior Achievement brings the real world to students

Mind Petals: Young Entrepreneur Network
http://www.mindpetals.com/
Mind Petals is the young entrepreneur's official blog network and a publishing company that produces informative, inspiring, and motivating content for entrepreneurs all over the world - especially the ones taking the big risks for the big rewards.

Mind Your Own Business
http://www.mindyourownbiz.org
The U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) and Junior Achievement Worldwide launched a new Web site for young entrepreneurs who want to start, run or grow their own businesses. The site walks you through five easy steps of business ownership - whether you've just had a brainstorm for your first business venture or you've been at it a few years.

VentureWell
http://venturewell.org/
VentureWell is a higher education network that cultivates revolutionary ideas and promising inventions. For nearly twenty years, we've been on a mission to launch new ventures from an emerging generation of young inventors driven to improve life for people and the planet.

National Foundation for Teaching Entrepreneurship (NFTE)
http://www.nfte.com
NFTE's mission is to teach entrepreneurship to young people from low-income communities, so they can become economically productive members of society by improving their academic, business, technology, and life skills.

Teen Business Link
http://archive.sba.gov/teens/
This site targets young entrepreneurs who want to start, run or grow their businesses. It also includes a game about entrepreneurship and curriculum guides for teachers who are interested in sharing business lessons with students.

YoungBiz.com
http://www.youngbiz.com
The mission of YoungBiz is to empower youth with entrepreneurial, business and financial skills through innovative education and real-world experience. The organization exists to help youth take their decision-making skills and use them to make great financial and business decisions. Geared toward teenagers.

Youth Venture
http://www.genv.net
Youth Venture empowers young people to create and launch their own enterprises, and through these enterprises, to take greater responsibility for their lives and communities. This site provides information on getting started and examples of successful projects across the country. Geared toward students 12 to 20.

BOOKS
Campus CEO: The Student Entrepreneur’s Guide to Launching a Multimillion-Dollar Business by Randal Pinkett. 2007

Generation Inc. The 100 Best Businesses for Young Entrepreneurs. 2000.

“Young Money Magazine.” Published by InCharge Institute of America. http://www.youngmoney.com

Young Wealth by Jon Swartz. 2006.

FINANCE AND INVESTING

WEBSITES

Campbell R. Harvey's Hypertextual Finance Glossary
http://www.duke.edu/~charvey/Classes/wpg/glossary.htm
Only browseable alphabetically, this site is a solid source for finance and investment definitions and acronyms. Contains 7,200 terms and over 18,000 cross-references.

CU Succeed Resources
http://www.cusucceed.net/resources.php
From a partnership of credit unions, this site offers articles and resources for teens on money management and includes downloadable spreadsheets and online calculators.

Investor Business Daily Learning Center
http://www.investors.com/learn
Offers several informative classes on investing from stocks to options.

National Endowment for Financial Education
http://www.nefe.org/
A non-profit organization dedicated to financial literacy and education. The NEFE Teen Resource Bureau, a site specifically for young adults, focuses on youth assisting youth. Its Teachers Section offers curricula and related materials for educators.
Practical Money Skills
http://www.practicalmoneyskills.com
A free Web site designed to help educators, parents, and students practice better money management for life.

StockQuest.com
http://investismart.coe.uga.edu/C001759/stocksquest/mystocks.htm
Contains lesson plans as well as stock market simulations.

TeenAnalyst.com
http://www.teenanalyst.com
Self Described: TeenAnalyst.com is a project we started in June 1999 to address the problem of financial illiteracy. Believe it or not, most kids graduate high school lacking basic personal finance skills. That's where TeenAnalyst.com comes in. The basic idea was to give kids the information they need to become successful investors. In order to accomplish this, we wrote and assembled a large database of articles about saving, investing, preparing for college, getting into the work force, and starting a small business. Enjoy the site!

Teenvestor.com
http://www.teenvestor.com
Self Described: Welcome to the first complete investment website created especially for teenagers and their parents. No other website thoroughly covers the nuts and bolts of investing and entrepreneurship in a manner the young can easily understand.

YoungInvestor.com
http://www.younginvestor.com
An interactive site from Columbia Management offering educational information, games and calculators for kids, teens, parents and teachers.

BOOKS

Financial Success for Young Adults and Recent Graduates: Managing Money, Credit, and Your Future by Janet C Arrowood. 2006.

Please Send Money: a Financial Survival Guide for Young Adults on Their Own by Dara Duguay. 2001.

FINANCIAL LITERACY PROGRAMS IN PUBLIC LIBRARIES

WEBSITES

Chicago Public Library

Denver Public Library

http://teens.denverlibrary.org/life/money.html/. Several links on financial literacy for teens and young adults from the Denver Public Library. Note the NEFE Teen Resource Bureau, Jump Start, My Own Biz, Student Guide and Tax Interactive links. These are all from various organizations or agencies and were active at this writing. These are all great resources.

Cleveland Public Library System
http://money.cnn.com/magazines/moneymag/money101/. This link is provided for teens and young adults from Cleveland Public Library System in Ohio. Look at the Voices Rising of Cleveland (VROC) link for teens on the main page of CPL.org and then look for a link for Real Life and Employment which then takes you to Money 101 and these links from CNN. Here, young adults find even more links dealing with basic financial literacy, budgeting/saving, investing, taxes, retirement planning/401K, health and auto insurance, buying a home, controlling debt and teaching children about money and financial responsibility that is geared to parents. Each segment is divided into a lesson and there are a total of twenty-two, each of which is further subdivided. These are easy to navigate and informative.

Houston/Harris County Public Libraries
http://www.myfuture.com/t2_money.html/. These Money Matters links from the Houston/Harris County, Texas Public libraries offer young adults help with financial literacy including budgeting, saving, understanding what one can afford to spend and avoiding the pitfalls associated with credit and debt. Compared to the other sites examined, this is more basic, but still informative and necessary. Visit http://www.houstonlibrary.org/teens/college.html/, look for My Future (under the Teen link) and beneath Careers. This takes you to the first link mentioned here. Contact information for the libraries can be found on the homepage under contact. See http://www.houstonlibrary.org/contact/.

Brooklyn Public Library: MyOwnBiz
http://myownbiz.brooklynpubliclibrary.org/
Brooklyn Public Library offers a variety of business and financial resources for young adults. Visit http://somedayssoon.brooklynpubliclibrary.org/s2/wtm_money_101.htm/ for more information and links to resources on money management at http://www.brooklynpubliclibrary.org/explore_topic_detail.jsp?subjectpageid=554/. The resources offered here are from banks and a variety of other organizations and deal with issues such as selecting the appropriate credit card, effective credit building and management, and a wealth (pun intended) of financial issues related to establishing financial literacy, building a business and more. Additional links can be found at http://somedayssoon.brooklynpubliclibrary.org/s2/wtm_research.htm/. A very interesting link found here includes information about when it may be inappropriate to borrow money, something not discussed on other sites. This is among the best organized sites of its kind. To contact the library via e-mail, go to http://www.brooklynpubliclibrary.org/write_us.jsp/. Reference questions can be directed to the Ask the Librarian service (24/7) at http://www.brooklynpubliclibrary.org/ask_librarian.jsp/. This includes telephone numbers and times as well as a form for e-mail inquiries.

Minneapolis Public Libraries
MPL offers teen links by subject, including finance at http://www.mplib.org/list.asp?search=finance/. This in turn produced forty-two interesting and quite varied links on a range of financial subjects. Check out the Minnesota state links and internet site links including Kidsbank.com, the Economist, the Financial Times and other consumer-oriented fare.

Montgomery County, Maryland Public Library System
The Montgomery County, Maryland Public Library System offers a range of links and resources on its teen site under the real life and consumer information links. Contact information for MCPL is listed on its homepage. Visit http://www.montgomerycountymd.gov/apps/libraries/teensite/realife.asp/ and http://www.montgomerycountymd.gov/apps/libraries/teensite/realife/weblinks.asp?subcatid=2&catid=2/. The links found here include information on investing, preventing ID theft, consumer buying information from the state of Maryland and money management tips, strategies and games.

Charlotte-Mecklenburg County Public Library
The Charlotte-Mecklenburg County Public Library has a teen site and lists several interesting teen events. However, the teen site on the library pages features several links to finances for teens, most notably http://www.jobdoggy.com/, a site oriented to job seekers that also includes information on full and part time work, interviewing preparation, dealing with different scenarios once on the job and managing credit. See http://www.jobdoggy.com/extra4.php/ for Credit 101 lessons and terminology provided by Capital On

GOVERNMENT RESOURCES

WEBSITES

Cooperative State Research, Education, and Extension Service: Youth Financial Education
http://www.csrees.usda.gov/nea/economics/in_focus/security_if_youth.html
A service of the United States Department of Agriculture. CSREES is working with its partners in Extension and non-profit organizations to help America's youth understand the basics of money management, and develop sound financial habits to expand their opportunities for the rest of their lives.

Internal Revenue Service

This is the IRS' online workshop for young people to help them understand the why and how of meeting their tax obligations.

MyMoney.gov: U.S. Financial Literacy and Education Commission

http://mymoney.gov

MyMoney.gov is the U.S. government's website dedicated to teaching all Americans the basics about financial education. Whether you are planning to buy a home, balancing your checkbook, or investing in your 401k, the resources on MyMoney.gov can help you do it better. Throughout the site, you will find important information from 20 federal agencies government wide.

Small Business Association

The Small Business Administration offers tips and links for young entrepreneurs at http://www.sba.gov/teens/tips_5_tips_for_building.html. Teens should also check out the topic boxes on this page for more information on business and finance.

Utah State Office of Education

The Utah State Office of Education has compiled information for teens and young adult entrepreneurs here: http://www.uen.org/financial_lit/student/teen_activities.shtml. The general resources, investing, saving and other links cover wide ranging topics. Downloadable quizzes and games included.

INTERESTING ARTICLES & OTHER MATERIALS

An article from USA Today on failing financial literacy among young adults with some very provocative statistics is available at http://www.usatoday.com/money/economy/2006-04-05-literacy_x.htm. Classes do not appear to help, but games and interactive activities are given the green light…

From WQED TV, a series on financial literacy for teens, complete with a link for downloadable games and quizzes. Visit http://www.wqed.org/tv/teens_ong/episodes/financial_literacy.shtml and see http://www.pueblo.gsa.gov/quiz.htm as well as http://www.jumpstart.org/ for more links, curricula and resources dedicated to financial literacy for young adults. Jumpstart also has a tab at the top of the page for downloadable files, including statistics on financial literacy. The resources tab, also at the top of the page, includes websites for teens and parents and teachers, speakers and other resources.

This 2006 article from the University of Georgia Extension Service contains many interesting links to resources concerned with financial literacy for young adults.

See http://www.fcs.uga.edu/ext/econ/youth.php and then go to the bottom of the page for additional links. Includes interactive sites for teens and resources for parents and teachers. See http://www.moneymtalks.ucr.edu/english/intro.html to watch videos or go to newsletters or games. NTRB is also available here.

An article from Time, 2005. “Grow Up? Not So Fast: Meet the Twixters.” By Lev Grossman. Time vol. 165, no. 4 (January 24, 2005), pg. 42+. Abstract: “Today’s twentysomethings are taking longer to leave home, start careers and marry. Is growing up just harder than it used to be?”

BRASS Business Reference in Public Libraries Committee includes: Susan Gray (Frederick County Public Libraries), Rachelle Miller (Dayton Metro Library), Susan Neilson (Wake County Public Libraries), Sophia Serlis-McPhillips (Middle Country Public Library), Stephanie Maatta (chair – University of South Florida), Matthew Tarczy (Hudson Library & Historical Society), and Barbara Vlk (Arlington Heights Memorial Library).