- Looked at the proposed dissolution of several interest groups, which largely came out of the ASGCLA division being dissolved and some interest groups bundled up under their leadership. Since COO did not participate in the creation of the groups, it does not have a role in their dissolution but asks for the responsible units to proceed as appropriate and check with any intersections with other groups within ALA before they move to dissolution.
- Asked by the Executive Board to look at the structure which underpins ALA awards program, which has been growing very significantly over the last several years. COO suggested a working arrangement to look at structure, finances, and impact on staff of the program. COO hopes to bring back recommendations in January.
- Considered a proposal from the Information Technology Advisory Committee (ITAC) to add a co-chair, but in discussions with COO, ITAC indicated there were other significant future proposals for changes. COO asked that ITAC bring forward a fuller proposal before proceeding.
- Formed three working groups: 1. to look at the proposed new Executive Board committees; 2. to look at what would happen if those Executive Board committees are not created; and 3. what will happen if they were created. After the approval of the TAG proposals yesterday, COO will look at committee implementation and bring back to Council restructuring proposals.

  - Intellectual Freedom and Social Justice Working Group continued its work on a draft report that will respond to its charge to identify alternatives to neutrality rhetoric as instructed by the "Resolution on White Supremacy and Fascism Being Antithetical to Librarianship" adopted by ALA Council
  - Office for Intellectual Freedom (OIF) noted that it received reports of an unprecedented 729 challenges that targeted 1597 individual book titles, the most attempts to ban books since OIF began to track book challenges over 20 years ago. The overwhelming majority of books challenged or banned were books dealing with lives of traditionally marginalized groups in the United States and can be traced to the efforts of a number of well-organized, well-funded conservative advocacy groups
  - OIF is also reporting a rise in extreme censorship tactics that include theft and vandalism of books in libraries; the use of doxing and threats of physical harm to intimidate library workers, educators, administrators, and board members, and attempts to criminally prosecute library workers and school librarians for providing minors access to age-appropriate materials dealing with gender identity, sexual orientation, human reproduction, and puberty
  - A number of library workers have had their employment threatened or have been fired for upholding students and library users' freedom to read. The LeRoy C. Merritt Humanitarian Fund is available to assist library workers facing discrimination or loss of employment due to their defense of intellectual freedom

- To help libraries and library workers address these challenges, members of the Intellectual Freedom Committee and Intellectual Freedom Round Table worked with OIF, PPA, and CMO staff to augment existing challenge support and advocacy tools
- OIF and ALA's Public Policy and Advocacy Office identified and tracked over 100 bills introduced during the 2022 state legislative session that would ban or regulate access to library materials based on their subject matter or viewpoint, impair the professional authority of library workers, or ban or censor materials used in classroom instruction in schools and universities. OIF and PPA staff continue to work on resources to help chapters to fight this legislation and other censorship efforts

Steven Yates, Chair of the Library Advocacy Committee, joined Chair Garnar to report on updates about the Unite Against Book Bans campaign:

- National advocacy campaign to empower advocates to take action in support of the right to read
- Talking points on the campaign website reflect messaging that resonates with voters across demographic groups and the political spectrum

Committee on Legislation (COL), CD #20.1

Joseph Thompson, Chair, provided the following updates:

- COL focused on advancing the ALA's 2022 legislative agenda, including equitable federal funding for libraries; library infrastructure and sustainability; Internet access and digital inclusion; copyright, licensing, and competition; and government information and services
- Federal funding:

    - LSTA funding was $197.5 million
    - Innovative Approaches to Literacy (IAL) program received a $1 million increase
  - Working on FY23 appropriations campaign:
    - President submitted FY23 budget request to Congress in March, which recommends an increase of LSTA of $3.5 million and IMLS of nearly $9 million, but a decrease of $1 million for IAL
    - FY23 Dear Appropriator letters were sent out, along with a virtual fly-in, and FY23 appropriations will likely be concluded after the November midterms
    - In early March, ALA advocates participated in more than 90 meetings with congressional offices
- E-book updates:
  - Advocacy for equitable digital book lending for libraries continues across multiple states
o Efforts to advance digital inclusion also continue. ALA has joined other coalition members in successfully advocating for the extension of the Federal Emergency Connectivity Fund (ECF). A third and final application window was made available to library and school applicants this spring.

- ALA is preparing to access Digital Equity Act funds: ALA filed extensive comments with the National Telecommunications and Information Administration in February, followed by joint webinars for libraries and other digital equity advocates with the schools, Health & Libraries Broadband Coalition, and the National Skills Coalition.
- Following nearly a decade of advocacy, the FCC has unanimously voted to update the definition of "library" to clarify that Tribal libraries are fully eligible for the federal E-rate Program.
- FCC is proposing a centralized portal for telecommunications company bids on the E-rate program, which ALA vigorously opposes and has signed on with coalition partners in this effort.
- Subcommittee updates: Copyright Legislation and Advocacy Network (CLEAN) and the Government Information Subcommittee continue to do important work.
