Dear Colleagues,

Welcome to the 2019 ACRL Conference, Recasting the Narrative! On behalf of the ACRL Board of Directors, I thank you for choosing to attend and participate in the ACRL 2019 conference. Nearly 200 ACRL members have spent the last two years planning for Cleveland. You and your peers have designed and are delivering most of the content during panel sessions, roundtable discussions, webcasts, and a variety of other engaging opportunities.

I consistently find that I am exposed to the most new ideas, learn the greatest amount of relevant information for my own work, and am more re-energized at ACRL Conferences than any other professional development opportunity I engage in. I hope that you will find the conference to be transformative, and that you take advantage of the programs, formal and informal networking opportunities, exhibits, keynotes and invited presentations, and the All-Conference Reception at the Rock & Roll Hall of Fame, sponsored by EBSCO.

You will also see evidence of ACRL’s Core Commitment to Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion throughout the conference from the accessibility and inclusion practices outlined on the conference webpage, to opportunities to connect with organizations committed to social justice, to a wide variety of programs and speakers on topics connected to equity, diversity, and inclusion.

The ACRL Conference continues to adapt with new ideas and roles: This year you can expect to find a conference app to organize your conference experience, sponsored by the Modern Language Association. Free career counseling in the Placement Center can help you strategize for the next phase of your career or solve a problem in your current situation. Revitalize your social media presence with free professional headshots. Discuss your library’s most pressing challenges with ACRL Consulting Services. Meet ACRL Roadshow presenters at the ACRL Roadshow Showcase. Pitch the Editor with ideas for books or webinars that can help your colleagues. Join in a trivia night to compete for ACRL glory and fame. Have dinner with colleagues at some of Cleveland’s best restaurants. Join in Think and Drink Sessions. Chill in the four lounges (Recharge, Quiet, Art, and Mothers). Bring your new, unopened hotel soap to support shelters. View and test the latest in virtual and extended reality headsets. Finally, be sure to take care of yourself! Join in a brief meditation session led by a Zen Master, sign up for yoga sponsored by Sage, or keep up with your fitness goals with a Rock n’Run/Walk sponsored by Project MUSE.

The ACRL conference is consistently rated by attendees as one of the best professional development opportunities. A testament to this is reflected in the ACRL Conference Scholarship Fund Campaign. Members (and non-members) were invited to ensure broad participation in the profession by contributing to provide scholarships. Your response was outstanding, raising more than $66,000 (our target was $50,000) through 249 gifts since December 2017 to our goal date of December 31, 2018 to help send 170 of your colleagues to conference with a scholarship!
Here is what you can expect: You will find inspiration, learning opportunities, and venues for scholarly conversation. There are more than 500 carefully curated programs on a wide range of topics of interest to academic and research librarians. There are more than two hundred companies in the exhibit hall are focused on academic and research library needs. Your registration includes one year of free access to the ACRL 2019 Virtual Conference, including more than 130 slidecasts, 200 electronic poster sessions, discussions, and more.

Please join me in thanking Conference Chair Trevor Dawes, the members of the conference committees, and the ACRL staff. They have planned a vibrant four days. The conference success also relies on the financial support of sponsors and of the exhibitors who share their products and service with us. Please thank the representatives here for their support when you see them.

I look forward to hearing about your experiences, whether on social media (hashtag #acrl2019), in post-conference reports, or conversations throughout the conference. Again, thank you for participating and making ACRL an amazing member-led association. And don't forget to start planning for ACRL 2021, April 14-17, in Seattle, WA!

Wishing you a vibrant conference filled with opportunities to learn and grow,

Lauren Pressley
ACRL President
Dear Colleagues,

Welcome to Cleveland! We are thrilled that you made the investment in yourself, your institution, and your community by joining us here to RECAST THE NARRATIVE! What a great conference this will be, and in great part to your participation.

Founded in 1796 near the mouth of the Cuyahoga River and located on the southern shore of Lake Erie, Cleveland, the second largest city in Ohio, became a manufacturing center due to its location on both the river and the lake shore, as well as being connected to numerous canals and railroad lines. The city, like many across America has gone through many transformations, recasting its own narrative to now being a place where sports, cuisine, literature, performing arts, film and television are just some aspects to the diversity that can be found here. Of course, Cleveland is also home to the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame, where I hope you will all join us for the All-Conference Reception!

I hope you’ll take some time to enjoy Cleveland although you’re here for what I know will be an amazing conference. With over 500 programs offering real solutions; the opportunity to make or build upon true connections; and inspirational sessions that demonstrate creativity, you will be energized to take what you learn back to your home institution. Did I mention the digital posters? For the first time, the posters will be digital and will also be available as a part of the virtual conference, to which all registrants will have access for one year after the conference. You will also be able to relax and participate in everyday wellness activities. And don’t forget to visit the many exhibitors that will be on-site!

Our keynote speakers, Michele Norris, Viet Thanh Nguyen, and Alison Bechdel, will stimulate your thinking, as will the Chair’s Choice programs with a theme of equity, diversity, inclusion, and social justice.

Along with the ACRL 2019 Conference Committee I am excited that you have decided to join us and we welcome you to Cleveland. We all hope you have a wonderful time learning, engaging, and having fun.

The Association of College and Research Libraries awarded 170 scholarships for this conference in five categories worth a record-breaking $124,210. Eighty-five of these scholarships (over $66,000 in value) came from the ACRL Scholarship Campaign. ACRL expresses its sincere appreciation to the groups and individuals that participated in this campaign. Their support enables ACRL to build the skills and capacities of the next generation to lead and serve our profession.

CONGRATULATIONS!

Congratulations to Kaetrena Davis Kendrick, Associate Librarian at the University of South Carolina, Lancaster, on being named the 2019 ACRL Academic/Research Librarian of the Year.

Kaetrena will receive her $5,000 award during the Thursday keynote session.

The award, sponsored by GOBI Library Solutions from EBSCO, recognizes an outstanding member of the library profession who has made a significant national or international contribution to academic/research librarianship and library development.

Kaetrena Davis Kendrick
ACRL expresses its sincere appreciation to the 2019 Conference Scholarship Campaign donors, whose support enables ACRL to build the skills and capacities of the next generation to serve our profession and association. Thanks to the individuals and groups who joined the 2019 Conference Scholarship Campaign and raised more than $66,000 for ACRL Conference scholarships.

Michele Norris
Wednesday, April 10, 4:00 – 5:30 p.m.
Huntington Convention Center of Cleveland, Exhibit Hall A

Michele Norris sparks important dialogue on current events, social issues and the power to make change as she adeptly breaks down commonly-held beliefs and attitudes on race, diversity and bias. Michele is one of the most trusted voices in American journalism. For a decade, as host of National Public Radio’s longest-running program, All Things Considered, she captivated audiences nationwide while earning some of journalism’s highest honors. Throughout her accomplished career, Michele’s efforts to promote conversation about race have resulted in a critically-acclaimed memoir and her Peabody Award-winning initiative, The Race Card Project, which fosters conversation among individuals about their differences.

Viet Thanh Nguyen
Thursday, April 11, 11:00 a.m. – 12:15 p.m.
Huntington Convention Center of Cleveland, Exhibit Hall A

Viet Thanh Nguyen’s bold, elegant, and fiercely honest debut novel, The Sympathizer, won the Pulitzer Prize. Growing up as a refugee in America during the Vietnam War, he noticed that most movies and books about the war focused on Americans while the Vietnamese were erased. He was inspired by this lack of representation to write about the war from a Vietnamese perspective. Viet was the recipient of a MacArthur “Genius” Grant in 2017. The MacArthur Foundation noted that Viet’s work offers insight into the experiences of refugees and poses profound questions about how victims and adversaries of war are portrayed.

Alison Bechdel
Saturday, April 13, 11:00 a.m. – 12:15 p.m.
Huntington Convention Center of Cleveland, Exhibit Hall A

Alison Bechdel is an internationally beloved cartoonist whose darkly humorous graphic memoirs, astute writing and evocative drawing have forged an unlikely intimacy with a wide range of readers. For 25 years Alison self-syndicated the award-winning generational chronicle Dykes to Watch Out For. From the strip was born the now famous “Bechdel test,” which measures gender bias in film. Her first graphic novel, Fun Home: A Family Tragicomic was adapted into a Broadway musical that has won five Tony Awards including Best Musical. Alison was the recipient of a 2012 Guggenheim Fellowship and in 2014 she received a MacArthur “Genius” Grant.

Invited Presentations

Beyond free: A social justice vision for open education
THURSDAY, APRIL 11, 4:00–5:00 P.M.
Huntington Convention Center of Cleveland, Atrium Ballroom A

Rajiv Jhangiani, Special Advisor to the Provost on Open Education and Professor, Kwantlen Polytechnic University

The open education movement wants to be a force for equity. The argument is straightforward and powerful: Widen access to educational resources and marginalized students who disproportionately suffer at the hands of the exploitative business models of commercial textbook publishers will disproportionately benefit, in both economic and educational terms. However, as the open education movement has matured, its vision has expanded beyond an emphasis on free open educational resources to the freedoms that flow from open educational practices. The contemporary open education movement thus represents an access-oriented commitment to learner-driven education, a force for the democratization of knowledge that challenges neoliberal forces that pit increasingly precarious faculty against increasingly precarious students. However, open is not a panacea and an uncritical approach risks perpetrating harm with the best of intentions. This presentation outlines a social justice vision for open education that is both broader and more critical, one that contemplates its true potential while being mindful of its pitfalls.

The centrality of Whiteness through the superficial work of diversifying academe
FRIDAY, APRIL 12, 8:30–9:30 A.M.
Huntington Convention Center of Cleveland, Atrium Ballroom A
Salvador Vidal-Ortiz, Associate Professor, Sociology, American University

There are often “proper” and “neutral” unspoken rules in academic circles—this is part and parcel of how Whiteness operates. More recently, there are many efforts to increase “diversity”—efforts that inadvertently serve as tools to impose uniformity in a way that flattens social interaction while sustaining racial hierarchies; those who do not uphold these shared codes of social behavior are sanctioned accordingly. But those efforts are framed as raceless and in the process, a central narrative (embedded in Whiteness) survives. Thus, Whiteness hardens the inner workings of academic spaces, yet it remains invisible as it operates. Hear about the ways in which our tacit approval of Whiteness, and the enactment of its rules, enables it to extend, to the point of countering any diversity efforts. Moving beyond “difficult conversations on diversity,” this session makes evident the workings of Whiteness in and through the everyday. The goal is to illustrate how structural issues of Whiteness (as a force that sustains hegemonic, “neutral” ways of being/behaving) interplay with the seemingly mundane, and the interactional, in everyday life.

Becoming a Proud “Bad Librarian”: Dismantling Vocational Awe in Librarianship
SATURDAY, APRIL 13, 8:30–9:30 A.M.
Huntington Convention Center of Cleveland, Atrium Ballroom A
Fobazi M. Ettaah, Undergraduate Success Librarian, Rutgers University Newark

Vocational awe describes the set of ideas, values, and assumptions librarians have about themselves and the profession that result in notions that libraries as institutions are inherently good and sacred, and therefore beyond critique. It is a term that openly exposes the exploitative nature of common rhetoric around librarianship and libraries, and allows for the opening up of what it means to be a “good” librarian. According to Deborah Hicks, the professional identity of a librarian “transcends other non-professional identities, such as one’s gender or race identity...” (2016). Taken to its extreme, this means that the ideal librarian is one whose other identities are subsumed by the “noble calling” of library work to the exclusion, and even detriment, of anything else. Librarianship, as a field, also has an identity—one tied to its purported values. A common rhetoric is that libraries, and librarianship, are the last bastions of democracy. Vocational awe permeates the narratives surrounding the ideal identities of librarians and librarianship. Because vocational awe also intersects with the problematic rhetoric of “do what you love” (Tokumitsu 2015), which enables the exploitation of librarians as workers by eliminating the distinction between personal and professional identities, librarianship cannot be critiqued without the critic being labeled a “bad librarian.” When there is immense resistance to merely acknowledging flaws in our professional values and practice, how can we work towards meaningful change?

Chair’s Choice Presentations
Advocating for Social Justice: The Role of the Ally
THURSDAY, APRIL 11, 8:00 – 9:00 A.M.
Huntington Convention Center of Cleveland, Atrium Ballroom A (or)
FRIDAY, APRIL 12, 1:00 – 2:00 P.M.
Huntington Convention Center of Cleveland, Atrium Ballroom A
Jody Gray, Director, ALA Office for Diversity, Literacy and Outreach Services; Briana Jarnagin, Member Services Assistant ALA, Office for Diversity, Literacy & Outreach Services

This workshop introduces participants to the concept of being an ally. Participants explore how it’s possible, and why it’s necessary, to work toward equity, diversity, and inclusion in all parts of our profession—even from our positions of privilege. Learning Outcomes:
• Participants will have a shared understanding of privilege as a social justice concept.
• Participants will have the opportunity to use role-plays as a tool in practicing intervention techniques and building confidence for acting in situations as an ally.
• Participants will gain tools for speaking to historical and institutional inequality and moving toward equity.

This program will be offered twice, once on Thursday and once on Friday. Add one of these programs to your agenda as best fits your schedule.

Be the Change: An Integrative Program for Personal and Professional Transformation

THURSDAY, APRIL 11, 9:40 – 10:40 A.M.
Huntington Convention Center of Cleveland, Atrium Ballroom A
DeEtta Jones, Founder and Principal, DeEtta Jones and Associates

- Are you or your colleagues experiencing change fatigue?
- Is your library stretched so thin with operational needs that “leading change” falls to the bottom of the list?
- Do you wrestle with integrating equity and inclusion into your library’s core strategic goals?
- Are you looking for more than a “workshop” to help build organizational capacity for change?
- If you answered yes to any of these questions, you are not alone.

This session will preview “Be the Change: An Integrative Program for Personal and Professional Transformation,” a new program for academic libraries and people who work in them. Participants will be introduced to new ways of thinking about and approach to personal and organizational change.

DeEtta Jones and Associates brings decades of experience supporting academic libraries’ professional development needs. From the Library Managements Skills Institutes (LMSI’s) to strategic planning and organizational culture-building, we have been trusted advisors and partners. We have also received many requests for professional development that builds upon the LMSI’s and provides scalable and sustainable tools for organizational change.

Be the Change is designed built upon the assumption that personal well-being expands one’s ability to be effective professionals and change leaders. Participants in this session will leave with tools for immediate application and sharing.

Unlikely Movie Screening

FRIDAY, APRIL 12, 4:15 – 6:15 P.M.
Huntington Convention Center of Cleveland, Atrium Ballroom A
Discussant: Trevor A. Dawes, Vice Provost for Libraries and Museums and May Morris University Librarian at University of Delaware

Set in the cities of Akron, Atlanta, Boston and Los Angeles, Unlikely tells the story of five individuals failed by America’s higher education system who fight for a second chance at opportunity. In the US, less than 50% of students who start college ever finish, making America’s college completion rates among the worst in the world. Now there are more than 35 million Americans who started college but never finished, leaving them saddled with debt, and behind their peers in earning power. Featuring interviews with LeBron James, Howard Schultz, and our nation’s leading voices in education, this penetrating and personal new film investigates America’s college dropout crisis through the lives of five diverse students as they fight for a second chance at opportunity and highlights the innovators reimagining higher education for the 21st century. The movie is directed by Adam and Jaye Fenderson and runs 1 hour and 45 minutes. It will be followed by a brief 15-minute discussion. For more information see www.unlikelyfilm.com.

ACRL Research Agenda for Scholarly Communications and the Research Environment

SATURDAY, APRIL 13, 9:45 – 10:45 A.M.
Huntington Convention Center of Cleveland
Atrium Ballroom A
Nathan Hall, Director, Digital Imaging and Preservation Services at Virginia Tech; Rebecca R. Kennison, Executive Director, K/N Consultants; Yasmeen Shorish, Data Services Coordinator, James Madison University

Learn about ACRL’s new research agenda for scholarly communications and the research environment. Developed over the course of a year with a high degree of community involvement — particularly historically under-represented groups — this powerful new action-oriented agenda encourages the community to make the scholarly communications system more open, inclusive, and equitable by addressing issues concerning people, content, and systems. It outlines trends, encourages practical actions, and clearly identifies the most strategic research questions to pursue. Learn how to apply for an ACRL research grant to investigate timely and substantial research questions, developing solutions that will move the community forward.

Explore social frameworks for collaborative XR project engagement in virtual social worlds. See how XR technologies can enhance and transform higher education.

SUSTAINABILITY
In keeping with our values and ACRL’s ongoing commitment to sustainable efforts, ACRL has taken the following steps for this conference:
• ACRL chose to partner with the Huntington Convention Center of Cleveland, along with its exclusive food and beverage provider, Levy Convention Centers for this event. The convention center and its catering service prioritize a comprehensive sustainability plan that is supported by eco-friendly design. Some of their environment-friendly initiatives include:
  » Grind2Energy Program: An onsite food waste recycling program that enables food waste to be converted into energy, natural gas, electricity, and fertilizer.
  » Water Re-Fill Stations: To help reduce the use of plastic bottles, these strategically placed water stations have replaced 21,000 bottles annually.
  » Lighting: A control system that uses daylight harvesting by taking advantage of the extensive natural light.
  » Green Rooftop: The 14-acre park above the center provides lovely green space in the middle of downtown Cleveland.
  » The Real Farmville: Managed by the food and beverage provider, Levy Convention Centers, The Real Farmville provides an acre of fresh produce, honey, and herbs used in menu items daily.
• ACRL used recycled paper and soy-based ink for the program book and promotional materials. Ready to go paperless? Tell us if we can ditch the program book entirely in your conference evaluation.
• ACRL reduced signage by using digital signs available outside each meeting room and recycling all of the foam core signage, entrance units, and registration counters produced for the show.
• ACRL chose recycled carpet in the exhibit hall and reusable pipe and drape.
NAVIGATING THE CONFERENCE

ALA Statement of Appropriate Conduct
ACRL seeks to create a safe and welcoming conference. As a community we do not tolerate discrimination, abuse, or harassment of any kind by anyone at our conference events. We request your help creating a conference in which all participants may learn, network, and enjoy the company of colleagues in an environment of mutual respect and genuine engagement. The full ALA Statement of Appropriate Conduct is available on the ACRL 2019 conference website. Please go to the ACRL Office, Room 16 and ask to speak with the ACRL Executive Director if you experience conduct that is not keeping with conference expectations.

ACRL 2019 App
Available now on all your devices, the official conference app “ACRL 2019” has everything you need; a truly easy-to-use personalized schedule, maps, and fun networking features. Create your profile or simply sync your LinkedIn profile (and/or Twitter account) and you’re ready to go. Check out the activity feed, post your thoughts, join a topic channel, earn points, and have fun!

Sponsored by Modern Language Association.

ACRL Membership Booth
Stop by the ACRL booth (#617) in the exhibit hall. The Association of College & Research Libraries (ACRL) is the higher education association for librarians. Representing almost 10,000 academic and research librarians and interested individuals, ACRL (a division of the American Library Association) develops programs, products and services to help academic and research librarians learn, innovate and lead within the academic community. Meet ACRL members and staff at the booth, and learn more about the association and how you can get involved.

ACRL Office
The ACRL Office is located in Room 16 of the Huntington Convention Center of Cleveland.

Addendum
An addendum to this program containing changes and updated information is available in the registration area. Please consult this listing when planning your conference schedule.

Admission to Sessions
Your name badge is your ticket of admission to conference sessions, exhibits, and other activities. You will not be admitted to the meeting rooms, receptions, or exhibit hall without your name badge. Preconferences require preregistration and a separate registration fee.

Complimentary coat and luggage check is available in the convention center by Room 9 at the following times:
Wednesday, April 10 2:00 – 8:00 p.m.
Thursday April 11 7:00 a.m. – 5:30 p.m.
Friday, April 12 7:30 a.m. – 6:30 p.m.
Saturday, April 13 7:30 a.m. – 1:00 p.m.

Evaluation
When you return home, you will receive an email from ACRL with the link to the online evaluation. Please take a few minutes to complete it so ACRL can continue to provide you with meaningful professional development activities. Individuals who complete the ACRL 2019 evaluation will be entered in a drawing for a free registration to ACRL 2021!

Exhibits
The ACRL 2019 Exhibits are a place to learn and engage with exhibitors representing a wide range of products and services. In addition to educational opportunities, the exhibit hall will provide you with the amenities and breaks you need! The exhibits are located in Exhibit Halls BC of the Huntington Convention Center of Cleveland. Exhibit hours are:
Wednesday, April 10 5:30 – 7:30 p.m.
Thursday, April 11 9:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m.
Friday, April 12 9:30 a.m. – 4:00 p.m.

Exhibits Only passes are available to visitors for free on Thursday and Friday. Non-registrants may pick up the exhibits passes from the exhibits registration desk in the registration area. A list of conference exhibitors appears on pages 84–86.

First Aid
The First Aid room is located just inside the Exhibit Hall C entrance to the left (Show Office located to the right of the men’s restroom). An emergency medical technician will be on duty during conference hours. If you encounter a medical or other emergency, please contact Security Dispatch by using one of the methods described below. Calmly and clearly state your name, your location in the building, and the nature of your emergency. Please follow any and all instructions given to you by Security Dispatch.

- Contact any Convention Center staff member wearing a name badge or carrying a radio. They can contact Security and medical services.
- Pick up any black house phone located throughout the facility and dial 1601 (this is labeled above the phone) or call (216) 928-1601 from your mobile phone.
- 911 can also be used. However, due to the size and complexity of the building, the prior two options are preferable.

Food Service
Cleveland is home to a vibrant and thriving food and restaurant scene. Within the convention center, try Lakeside Market in the Exhibit Hall, open Wednesday through Friday for lunch (including vegetarian, vegan, and gluten-free selections).
Hotels
Need help with your hotel reservations? Stop by the ACRL Housing Desk located in the registration area, and a representative will be glad to assist you. This service will be available through Friday afternoon.

There is a Starbucks in the Global Health Center entrance of the convention center open during conference hours. Food trucks will visit the convention center Thursday and Friday for quick and tasty lunch options. For dinner, it’s just a few blocks to 4th Street where options abound. For more lunch options or evening restaurant suggestions, further information is available at the ACRL Local Arrangements Desk. Morning and afternoon refreshment breaks will be available on Thursday and Friday in the exhibit hall.

Internet Workstations
Need to check your email? This is the place. Stop by these workstations in the back left side of the exhibit hall. These workstations are available to all conference attendees and are open during exhibit hall hours.

Local Arrangements Desk
The Local Arrangements Desk, located in the registration area, is staffed by the ACRL Local Arrangements Committee and local volunteers. These knowledgeable volunteers are pleased to provide you with information on Cleveland’s restaurants, tours, libraries, art, music, and shopping. Hours are

Lost and Found
Lost and found articles may be turned in and/or reclaimed at the ACRL Office.
Name Badges
Please wear your conference name badge at all times during the conference and to all conference activities, including the All-Conference Reception on Friday. If you lose or misplace your name badge, the staff at the registration desk will assist you in securing a new badge. You will need to present some form of photo identification in order to receive a replacement name badge.

Photography/Video
Professional photography and video may be captured at all official ACRL conference events and venues. Photography and video will be used for promotional and other purposes. Your attendance constitutes your consent to be included in photography and videos. If you do not want your likeness used, please go to the ACRL Office and we will be glad to assist you.

Placement Center
Looking for a job or the right person to hire? The ALA JobLIST Placement and Career Development Center (Rooms 8 & 9) provides opportunities for employers and job seekers to meet, network, and achieve success in reaching their employment goals. Events and activities in the ALA JobLIST Placement Center are designed to help job seekers retool their skills and prepare for job searches. They are intended for people at every stage of their careers—not just new graduates. Employers are encouraged to interact with job seekers at every level.

ACRL members experienced in evaluating and hiring librarians are available to critique the résumés of new and experienced librarians. Just drop in with your résumé; no appointment is necessary. Mock interviews provide individuals with an opportunity to practice their interviewing skills. Private appointments with a professional career counselor can help guide you in strategizing for the next phase of your career, solving a problem in your current job situation, defining goals, or rejuvenating your career path. Appointments for mock interviews and career counseling are subject to availability. Computers are also available in the center to access ALA JobLIST. There are also a wide variety of books on job search topics such as interviewing, salary negotiation, and résumé writing.

The Placement Center, coordinated by the ALA Office for Human Resource Development and Recruitment, will be open the following hours:

Thursday, April 11 9:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m.
Friday, April 12 9:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m.

An Open House will be held on Friday, April 12, from 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m., where representatives from academic institutions will have an opportunity to showcase positions and the quality of life at their institutions. Staff will be able to discuss various aspects of campus and community life—the things that make their institution unique, such as arts, music, sports, and recreational activities, cultural facilities, the work environment, etc.—without necessarily talking about specific jobs.

Sponsored by Kent State University School of Information.

Press Room
Members of the press may obtain information, materials, and a badge by registering in the Press Room, located in Room 11. Press Room hours are:

Wednesday, April 10 7:30 a.m. – 5:00 p.m.
Thursday, April 11 7:30 a.m. – 5:00 p.m.
Friday, April 12 8:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m.
Saturday, April 13 8:00 – 11:00 a.m.

Share your Cleveland photos and tag them #acrl2019 on Instagram! Follow ACRL on Instagram at @ala_acrl for more conference images.
Proceedings
The ACRL 2019 conference proceedings are available online at http://www.ala.org/acrl/conferences/acrl2019/papers.

Recordings
All Panel, Contributed Paper, Lightning Talk, and TechConnect sessions will be screen captured and audio recorded for the ACRL Virtual Conference. Screen capture is a recording of everything that appears on the screen during the presentation synced with a recording of the audio of the presentation, including the question-and-answer portions. These recordings will be provided as part of the ACRL 2019 Virtual Conference, available for one year after conference dates (complimentary to all registrants in Cleveland).

Restrooms and Lactation Pods
Restrooms are located on every level of the convention center. An all-gender restroom can be found on the exhibit level by Room 18. The convention center also features two Mamava Lactation pods. One is located on the concourse level by the Hall A escalator, and the other is on the exhibit hall level by Room 9. These lactation suites make the world a friendlier place for women to breast pump or breastfeed. Please see ACRL staff in the office Room 16, if you need refrigeration.

Session Formats
ACRL 2019 offers nearly 500 peer-reviewed programs featuring eight session formats to suit a wide range of presentation and learning styles. Listing of conference programs begin on page 29.

KEYNOTE: VIET THANH NGUYEN
Huntington Convention Center of Cleveland
Exhibit Hall A
Introductions: Alanna Aiko Moore, Subject Specialist for Sociology, Ethnic Studies, and Gender Studies, UC San Diego Library
Viet Thanh Nguyen’s writing is bold, elegant, and fiercely honest. His remarkable debut novel, The Sympathizer, won the Pulitzer Prize, was a Dayton Literary Peace Prize winner, and made the finalist list for the PEN/Faulkner award. Viet and his family came to the United States as refugees during the Vietnam War in 1975. As he grew up in America, he noticed that most movies and books about the war focused on Americans while the Vietnamese were silenced and erased. He was inspired by this lack of representation to write about the war from a Vietnamese perspective, globally reimagining what we thought we knew about the conflict. The New York Times said that his novel, The Sympathizer, “fills a void...giving voice to the previously voiceless while it compels the rest of us to look at the events of forty years ago in a new light.” His voice is refreshing and powerful as he urges readers to examine the legacy of that tumultuous time and its aftermath from a new perspective. Viet was the recipient of a MacArthur “Genius” Grant. The MacArthur foundation noted that Viet’s work “not only offers insight into the experiences of refugees past and present, but also poses profound questions about how we might more accurately and conscientiously portray victims and adversaries of other wars.”

Set in the cities of Akron, Atlanta, Boston and Los Angeles, five individuals failed by America’s higher education system fight for a second chance at opportunity. In the US less than 50% of students who start college ever finish, making America’s college completion rates among the worst in the world. Now there are more than 35 million Americans who started college but never finished, leaving them saddled with debt, and behind their peers in earning power. Featuring interviews with LeBron James, Howard Schultz, and our nation’s leading voices in education, this penetrating and personal new film investigates America’s college dropout crisis through the lives of five diverse students as they fight for a second chance at opportunity and highlights the innovators reimagining higher education for the 21st century. The movie is 1 hour and 45 minutes and will be followed by a brief 15-minute discussion.

CLOSING KEYNOTE: ALISON BECHDEL
Huntington Convention Center of Cleveland
Exhibit Hall A
Introductions: Martin Garnar, Dean, Kraemer Family Library, University of Colorado, Colorado Springs

Alison Bechdel is an internationally beloved cartoonist whose darkly humorous graphic memoirs, astute writing and evocative drawing have forged an unlikely intimacy with a wide and disparate range of readers. For 25 years Alison self-syndicated Dykes to Watch Out For. The award-winning generational chronicle has been called “one of the pre-eminent oeuvres in the comics genre, period” by Ms. Magazine. From the strip was born the now famous “Bechdel test,” which measures gender bias in film. Her first graphic novel Fun Home: A Family Tragicomic was named the Best Book of the year by TIME, describing the tightly architected investigation into her closeted bisexual father’s suicide “a masterpiece about two people who live in the same house but different worlds, and their mysterious debts to each other.” Fun Home was a finalist for a National Book Critics Circle Award and was adapted into a Broadway musical that has won five Tony Awards including Best Musical. Alison was the recipient of a 2012 Guggenheim Fellowship and in 2014 she received a MacArthur “Genius” Grant. In its citation the MacArthur Foundation noted that Alison “is changing our notions of the contemporary memoir and expanding the expressive potential of the graphic form.”

The ACRL 2019 Virtual Conference features twelve live webcasts, as well as asynchronous activities such as slidecasts and select keynote recordings, allowing for convenient scheduling and flexibility. The Virtual Conference archive will feature more than 200 slidecasts from every contributed paper, invited presentation, panel session, and TechConnect presentation. So, while you can’t be in two places at once during the F2F conference, luckily, your registration allows you access to these sessions in the Virtual Conference for one full year!

While these sessions are not presented in any physical space during conference, you can access them live or asynchronously online using your own device. Sponsored by Gale, a Cengage Company.
