ALA American Library Association

Intellectual Freedom Round Table

John Phillip Immroth Memorial Award

http://www.ala.org/rt/ifrt/immroth

The John Phillip Immroth Memorial Award honors notable contributions to intellectual freedom and demonstrations of personal courage in defense of freedom of expression. Presented annually.

Established in 1979, upon the death of John Phillip Immroth, this award honors the courage, dedication, and contribution of a living individual, group, or organization who has set the finest kind of example for the defense and furtherance of the principles of intellectual freedom. The award consists of a citation and a $500.

John Phillip Immroth was a teacher, author, scholar, advocate, and defender of First Amendment rights. He was the founder and first Chair of the Intellectual Freedom Round Table in 1973. His impact on the ideal of intellectual freedom and its practice was great.

John Phillip Immroth Memorial Award

Nomination Form

Name: _____

Contact information for nominee: Please include mailing address, phone number, and email.

_____

_____

_____

_____

Reason for nomination: Please describe in detail why you feel the nominee should receive the award, including information about the duration of their support of intellectual freedom, the description of any specific incidents, or description of moral, financial, or professional support from organizations or community members.

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

References: Provide the contact information (mailing address, phone number, email, and website) for two individuals who might be contacted to provide supportive evidence for this nomination.

Is this a self-nomination? ☐ Yes ☐ No

Nominator: Please include your contact information: name, organization, position, mailing address, phone number, email, and website.

Nominations and supporting evidence should be sent via email, or mail to:

ALA Office for Intellectual Freedom
225 Michigan Ave, Suite 1300
Chicago, IL 60601

Email: ifrt@ala.org
Questions? Call 312-280-4226 or 800-545-2433 ext. 4226

Nominations must be received by December 1