16. Select how committee members will access your tool: *

Access to digital tools is given to committee members for association work and not personal use. Access is considered confidential and will not be shared outside of their committee work. Full access to a digital tool is required for consideration. A "free version" or "free content" is not considered full access. The AASL designation of a "Best Digital Tool for Teaching & Learning" applies to the entirety of your tool and not a free or limited version. Limited access to a tool will disqualify a tool from review.
