SHAKESPEARE AND LIBRARIES

ON STAGE, ONLINE, OFF THE SHELVES

SATURDAY, JUNE 23, 2007

1:30 – 3:30 P.M.

WASHINGTON CONVENTION CENTER, ROOM 206

Prompted by the landmark festival Shakespeare in Washington, running from January-June 2007, this program will address how library resources, especially those of the Folger Shakespeare Library, are used to prepare for theatrical productions of Shakespeare's plays; how libraries can be involved in public programming (readings/performance, lectures, exhibitions, blogs) pertaining to Shakespeare; and how this classic figure is making the transition to the electronic world.

Panelists:

Georgianna Ziegler, Louis B. Thalheimer Head of Reference, Folger Shakespeare Library, and President, Shakespeare Association of America

James L. Harner, Samuel Rhea Gammon Professor of Liberal Arts, Texas A & M University, and Editor, World Shakespeare Bibliography Online

Carole Levin, Willa Cather Professor of History (Early Modern England, Women), University of Nebraska-Lincoln; NEH Fellow, The Folger Shakespeare Library
