

14:12:57 From Lisa Shaw to All panelists : Can you talk about SIP 2 vs EZ Proxy - specifically, can this work with EZ proxy?

14:16:01 From Scott Allen : Please put questions in the chat at any time! We will answer some via chat during the panel, and we will have time at the end for the speakers to address them as well. Remember send to "All panelists and attendees."

14:16:40 From Lisa Shaw : Can you talk about SIP 2 vs EZ Proxy - specifically, can this work with EZ proxy?

14:17:36 From Nikole Wolfe : when is the upgrade coming?

14:18:27 From Karen Riggione : The upgrade process began on January 25, 2021

14:19:54 From Elizabeth laukea : Didn't work with EZ Proxy previously - I don't know if this has changed

14:20:38 From Lisa Shaw : @Elizabeth - that is what I was wondering - some library ILS do not support SIP 2

14:22:35 From Elizabeth laukea : SO envious of MASK!

14:23:39 From Karen Riggione : LinkedIn Learning does not support EZ Proxy. We currently support SIP 2 and Patron

14:23:51 From Michael Scott : So I've heard at least a couple of time so far that this product is expensive and many small libraries may not be able to afford it. Besides hitting up state libraries who may or may not have the dollars for statewide contracting, what else is LinkedIn for Libraries doing to make it more affordable

14:24:17 From Julie Niederhauser : Don and Elizabeth, Statewide implementation of Lynda.com, now LinkedIn Learning sounds like a huge life financially and with staff time. How much tech assistance did you receive from Lynda.com on setting up your statewide implementation?

14:24:43 From Julie Niederhauser : lift not lift

14:24:56 From Elizabeth laukea : @Lisa - Julie or Karen should be able to address this. Our EZProxy libs had to pick up SIP2 or PatronAPI. We were lucky one of the major ILS vendors agreed not to change our libs for these added connections or it would have been expensive in terms of set-up and ongoing costs. Which hadn't been budgeted for and in many cases the libs couldn't have afforded.

14:24:59 From Lisa Shaw : @Don - would like to know more about MASK

14:25:33 From Lisa Shaw : all the Google returns I am getting are around COVID :P :D

14:26:55 From Lisa Shaw : OOOH Don I really look forward top talking more wit you on this

14:27:02 From Lisa Shaw : to*

14:27:56 From Nikole Wolfe : Do you use LSTA funding to pay for the statewide license?

14:28:13 From Elizabeth laukea : @Nikole we use state funds

14:33:50 From Don Yarman : @Julie: the LinkedIn staff were very helpful to us for the tech set-up work. It was a bit of a communication struggle (time zones: by the time San Francisco was hitting their stride in the day, we were heading home for dinner). But we couldn't have done it at all without them.

14:35:22 From Don Yarman : @Nikole: we use E-rate reimbursements. (OPLIN is the public library ISP, so we get a lot back each year in refunds.)

14:35:35 From Nikole Wolfe : thanks

14:38:56 From Maryann Mori : Which was that specific tool? (the one that made the connection between previous job and a new career field)

14:40:45 From Arlene Weible : Is this the tool that was mentioned?
<https://linkedin.github.io/career-explorer>

14:41:10 From Maryann Mori : Thank you, Arlene!

14:43:24 From Karen Riggione : Yes, @arlene that is correct

14:45:20 From Elizabeth laukea : Info about our certification program:

14:49:44 From Nikole Wolfe : what is the pricing based on? county population or # of libraries or something else?

14:50:27 From Don Yarman : Pricing for libraries is tiered based on population of service area.

14:51:11 From Karen Riggione to Nikole Wolfe and all panelists : Pricing is based on service population

14:56:00 From Lisa Shaw : @ Julie - Yikes! Good to know.

14:56:12 From Elizabeth laukea : I would LOVE to see a LinkedIn Learning Users' Group

14:56:37 From Scott Allen : Tech Skills Checklist for library staff

14:57:17 From Lisa Shaw : Does LI Learning have any relationship with or plan to have one with initiatives like the Drucker Institute's Bendable? <https://www.bendable.com/>

15:00:31 From Lisa Shaw : LIBSWork is the shizzle. :)

15:00:45 From Andrea Levandowski : Woohoo! LibsWork!

15:00:53 From Lori Ries to All panelists : Thank you!
