

supports such a system must be defeated. Passage of the anti-ballistics missile legislation will deny further funding to American communities and institutions now in desperate need of federal financial support.

Passage of the anti-ballistics missile legislation will provide for an unrealistic and ineffectual defense system, will be a senseless waste of United States dollars, and will bring us one giant step closer to the Armageddon which nightmares the slumber of mankind. Therefore, let us RESOLVE: That the President of the American Library Association write to the President of the United States, the Vice President, the Speaker of the House, the Senate majority and minority leaders, as well as to the chairmen of appropriate House and Senate committees and subcommittees, expressing on behalf of the membership present its strong disapproval of any anti-ballistics missile weaponry system, and urging the defeat of any legislation which would promote such a system. The President's letter should also demand, on behalf of the membership, the immediate halt of all production and testing of the MIRV missile warheads.
