

Resolution on the ALA Imprimatur on Films

WHEREAS, the influence and name of the American Library Association are instruments for good which must be carefully guarded and judiciously used, and

WHEREAS, films carrying the Association's imprimatur have far-reaching impact on our members, libraries, and those our libraries serve, and

WHEREAS, to safeguard the Association's name, the development and production of any film with our imprimatur requires careful study and research,

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that it is the policy of the American Library Association that any unit producing a film with the ALA imprimatur shall, as they begin their research, publicize their plans widely among ALA members and construct a timetable for consultation with interested groups who could contribute information, ideas, and interpretations which would strengthen and enhance the finished product.
