

"Thank you to all the members of the committee for conferring this honor on Samurai Rising. I'm grateful that I was able to be part of the creation of a such a wonderful book about a historical subject that's always fascinated me. It was a great pleasure to be able to channel my love for Japanese culture, weapons & armor, martial arts, and brush painting into the illustrations for this book.

Thank you, Pam, for the immense work and skill that went into writing Samurai Rising. Thank you Alyssa Pusey for bringing me on board to illustrate it. Thank you Susan Sherman for the beautiful job you did with the book's design. And thank you Donna, Meg, Yolanda, and everyone at Charlesbridge -- you've truly been a joy to work with and I'd ride down a cliff to attack a fortress with you any day."
