

APPENDIX A: YEAR 2 IMPLEMENTATION PLAN -- DRAFT

3-Year Outcomes	Strategies	2017 - 2018 Activities	Potential Subsequent Activities
Umbrella Activities to Support Priority Areas Below
YALSA is structured in a way that maximizes efficiency and flexibility, enabling the organization to accomplish its goals, as outlined below. Align organization to the organizational plan.		Complete realignment of existing structures (e.g., committee structure, staffing model), programs (e.g., CE, conferences), and offerings (e.g., YALSA grants) against the envisioned future.	Conduct interim progress review at ALA Annual 2017.
		Undertake bylaw revision consistent with the requirements of this organizational plan - e.g., board member eligibility requirements, committee structure, mission/vision statement, etc.	Put bylaws changes on 2018 ballot for members' consideration
Priority Area: Leading the Transformation of Teen Library Services
75% of libraries have applied at least one aspect of the envisioned future with respect to their teen services.	Leverage YALSA programs, activities, and communications to promote the transformation of teen library services.	Identify specific examples of library programs that embody key aspects of the transformation of teen library services, with a focus on capturing efforts in diverse contexts—e.g., urban and rural, high and low income, racial/ethnic differences, etc. Present these programs in multiple contexts (written materials, webinars, an “expo” at ALA annual conference, poster and other sessions at state conferences, etc.) and include specific tools for replicating their key components across different contexts.	In a second loop of learning, celebrate libraries that have replicated these initial programs in their own contexts. Develop a cycle of continuing “short-term wins” that reach a tipping point. Consider creating some sort of national YALSA “award” or recognition system to spotlight program adoption and achievement.
		Communicate opportunities for more poorly funded libraries (e.g., in rural or low-income urban communities) to do something to move toward the envisioned future.	Continue outreach and communication, based on initial response
By 2018, there is a YALSA presence at a minimum of 10 state or regional conferences per year.	Leverage relationships with state association to promote the transformation of teen library services.	Contact state leaders to determine how we can work together in building a relationship between YALSA and their state organization through resource sharing, building infrastructure, meetings, conference presentations, etc. Answer the question, “What do state associations need, and how can YALSA help?” and co-create the appropriate offerings.	Develop a 50-state engagement strategy, with specific offerings and focused on specific leaders at the state level, including but not limited to state library association leaders and state library agency youth services consultants.
By 2018, YALSA membership has grown by at least 15%.		Identify key states for growth and concentrate outreach efforts on those states and their young adult sections to identify opportunities to serve/collaborate. Begin work with those states.	Identify libraries in each state that are most aligned with YALSA’s envisioned future and highlight them at their state’s library association conference and/or at a national Leverage existing members to recruit/refer new members in their regions and to promote YALSA's teen-focused initiatives.

75% of those serving teens in libraries demonstrate familiarity with transformation-related concepts.	Implement ongoing curricula to build knowledge and skills required to bring about the transformation of teen library services.	Conduct an audit of existing CE offerings against key components of the envisioned future. Begin to develop additional CE offerings and materials to fill gaps. Engage members who are skeptical about the transformation of teen library services in the development of these materials to ensure that their perspectives are taken into account.	adjust CE offerings based on initial round and feedback received
		Reorganize YALSA communication platforms to highlight CE under one umbrella.
		Update formats for CE delivery based on member needs
90% of those who have used YALSA's leadership development offerings self-assess as having increased or improved their leadership skills.	Institute a three-track leadership development curriculum for (1) front-line library staff, (2) managers, and (3) senior leadership for YALSA and the profession.	Develop curriculum for leadership development offering for one career level	Beta-test a leadership development offering for one career level via webinar and/or a session at the 2017 ALA Midwinter Meeting. Conduct outreach to promising young members to invite them to participate in the
30% of YALSA members have used YALSA's leadership development offerings in some form.		Identify YALSA leaders at the front-line level and target them for training.	Launch a comprehensive leadership development offering for one career level at 2017 ALA Annual Conference.
At least 100 YALSA members are qualified to provide cultural competency training in their own region.	Develop a program of training and assessment for cultural competency.	Develop collaboration with appropriate organizations, including but not limited to ethnic caucuses, JCLC, GLBT-RT, ASCLA, the ALA Task Force for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion.	Create a variety of pathways for members to get engaged in YALSA's cultural competency work
		Identify or develop a cultural competency self-assessment and training curriculum. Have YALSA Leadership take self-assessment and training first.	adjust self-assessment tool if needed after initial use and feedback

		Begin to develop a “train the trainer” curriculum to train a national cadre of cultural competency trainers.	Implement train the trainer program & work with those who are trained to ensure workshops are offered
The number of YALSA members with diverse backgrounds, as defined by ALA, has increased by 20%.	Model diversity for the field through YALSA’s recruitment, membership, and governance.	Offer free YALSA membership to President/Chairs of targeted organizations—e.g., ethnic affiliates, GLBT-RT, EMIERT, GLSEN, etc.	outreach to those who received free memberships to encourage involvement in YALSA
		Conduct outreach to those working for and with teens in libraries to increase diversity of YALSA membership.
		Commit to supporting at least one additional YALSA Spectrum Scholar per year.
		Incorporate diverse members into YALSA Member Spotlight.
		Identify members with diverse backgrounds and invite them to serve on committees and in leadership positions
		create a member group to explore challenges and opportunities library staff of diverse backgrounds face when connecting with YALSA & submit findings & recommendations to the board	prioritize and begin implementing approved recommendations
		Continue to encourage the Nominating Committees to provide greater diversity in its pool of vetted candidates
Priority Area: Advocacy to Policy Makers at All Levels to Increase Support for Teen Library Services
100% of YALSA members conduct advocacy at some level and know they are doing so.	Train, empower, and support YALSA members to conduct advocacy at all levels.	Inventory YALSA advocacy resources. Update those deemed useful and ensure consistency of language and messages across resources. Sunset other resources whose shelf life has expired. Organize all advocacy resources into a more user-friendly format and develop an advocacy curriculum based on them.	Create a means to recognize YALSA member & supporter advocacy to highlight the advocacy efforts that best fit with YALSA’s envisioned future and with adopting a teens-first service approach.

At least five governor's advisory boards/councils have YALSA members on them by end of 2018.		Become knowledgeable about Governors' boards and the process for appointment to them. Identify YALSA members to embed in governor's advisory boards/councils for youth issues and reach out to them.	assist members with identifying and participating in local boards
10% increase in library funding at the state level.		Create a venue for YALSA members to share their advocacy efforts, and feed information on YALSA's advocacy successes back to members; develop tools for tracking, coordinating, sharing, and celebrating local and state-level advocacy activity .
		Re-envision the use of National Library Legislative Day to support impactful YALSA advocacy at the national level to engage members who cannot travel and amplify the message.
20% of congressional members have staff who have attended at least one YALSA briefing on Capitol Hill.	Conduct quarterly briefings on Capitol Hill for legislators, policymakers, and their staffs.	Identify partners and hold one briefing on Capitol Hill to familiarize congressional members and their staffs with teen library services and their benefits. Report briefing outputs and outcomes back to membership .	Create ongoing planning process to ensure one Capitol Hill briefing every quarter.
		Find partners familiar with the process of drafting and shepherding legislation through the legislative process.	Develop sample legislation for library sustainability and funding increases.
Priority Area: Funder and Partner Development
All libraries that serve teens and/or their families have access to sufficient funding to apply to at least one aspect of the envisioned future with respect to their teen services.	Develop and implement an entrepreneurial funder and partner development strategy.	Hire staff member and/or consultant or revise current staffing model to allow for working on funder/partner development.	adjust staff or consultant roles and responsibilities as needed

		Create two board seats for non-members/non-librarians with a passion for YALSA's mission, but with backgrounds in key areas needed to support the work of YALSA, such as business, corporate partnerships, or fundraising. (Requires bylaw amendment.)	evaluate success of effort to determine whether it should continue
YALSA funding to support members and their libraries exceeds $5 million per year.		Define optimal operating model and recruit promising members and others to identify entities in the public, private, nonprofit, and philanthropic sectors that are potential funders and partners likely to respond to YALSA's envisioned future. Charge this task force to "shock" the YALSA board with the scope of the entities
		Set specific goals with respect to each current funder and partner, and develop a plan to meet those goals.	adjust goals as needed as implementation plan unfolds
		From the lists of entities identified by the member group, select those that offer the most promise. Begin building relationships with these entities and establish a set of five to pursue more vigorously based on the results. Begin building relationships with these entities to co-create the parameters of a funding relationship. Look for opportunities for innovative collaborations to advance the transformation of teen library services.
All member libraries will have made at least one community partnership that helps them achieve a future-focused transformation of teen services.	Ensure members are capable of engaging current and potential funders and partners development at the local level.	finalize and disseminate the Community Connections Toolkit	Use print and digital communications/publishing channels to inform and facilitate learning on this topic with members.
